

Romulus council approves sale of land

By HENRY CANTIN

A formal resolution authorizing the sale of 175 acres of land in the Wayne-Beverly Road Urban Renewal Area for the construction of a multi-million dollar subdivision has been approved by the Romulus City Council.

The city council's action in approving the sale of the urban renewal land to two private developers for the sum of $1,300,000 was on a roll call vote of 6-1.

Councilman James C. Stewart, who opposes urban renewal, voted against the land sale.

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael and City Clerk Leonard J. Folmar were instructed to enter into a land contract sale with the two developers — Hi-Fashion Homes of Detroit, and Bailey-Kinley Associates of Ann Arbor.

The developers plan to build a $10 million urban renewal subdivision of 291 single family homes.

The homes which will be conventionally financed will sell for $25,000 to $35,000 and many of the homes will be custom built by the developers.

George Wilhelmi, the city's urban renewal director, announced that some of the homes will be under construction by mid-October and that it will take about three years to complete the subdivision's development and build all the homes.

The developers are to build 73 of the homes each year for the next three years he said.

The city council also approved two other resolutions Thursday regarding the city's urban renewal program.

One of these resolutions approved an increase in relocation grants in the initial urban renewal contract between the city and the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in the amount of $660,000.

Another resolution directed the city attorney to institute necessary condemnation proceedings in Wayne County Circuit Court on approximately 50 pieces of property located in the 175-acre site, which constitutes the city's initial phase of its total urban renewal program of 575 acres, all located in the Wayne-Beverly Road area.

The city's entire urban renewal program, if approved in all of its planned phases by the council, will take about 15 years to complete, Wilhelmi said.

The increase in relocation grant approved by the city council is permitted under the 1971 urban renewal regulations, which provide additional housing payments to people who own their homes and are being relocated either in the new urban renewal subdivision or elsewhere.

Under this new federal regulation a federal subsidy amounting to as much as $15,000 may be applied as down payments on relocation.

Wilhelmi said the people who are being moved out of the urban renewal area will have the first chance to pick their lots as sites of new homes.

Youngster dancers, discussion

PRIVATE DISCUSSION — Three youngsters who attended Saturday's performance of Indian dances at the Romulus Public Library seemed to be more interested in their private discussion than viewing the Huron Chippewa Order of the Arrow performing dances. The youngsters are (from left) Tommy LaClair, 5, his brother, Jimmie, 3, and Dean Meadows, all of Romulus.

Talks to end, pact OK eyed

The negotiating teams representing the Romulus Board of Education and the Romulus Education Association (REA) have reached a tentative agreement on a new teacher employment contract for the 1972-73 school year.

The tentative agreement was reached around 8 p.m. Sunday when the negotiating teams met at the school district's administration building for a session on a proposed new master contract for the district's more than 280 teachers.

The terms of the agreement will be made public after settlement of the exact language of the proposed contract and ratification by the teaching staff.

Mrs. Margaret Ross, kindergarten teacher at the Cory Elementary School and president of the REA said the members of the teaching staffs will meet within two weeks to ratify or reject the proposed contract.

The teachers presently are working without a contract; the contract expired Aug. 15. Assistant School Superintendent James W. Garfield, who announced the reaching of a tentative agreement, said Sunday's contract session included discussion on a final salary schedule and class size.

Members of the negotiating team representing the board of education besides Garfield are Harold Connon, principal at the Mt. Pleasant Elementary School; and School Board Attorney Robert Vercruyse.

The REA team members are Miss Katharine Hulik, teacher at the Romulus Junior High School, and chief spokesman; David Ferdon, teacher at Romulus Senior High School; Mrs. Virginia Wagoner, first grade teacher at Gordonier Elementary School, and James Hart, executive director of REA and employee of the Michigan Education Association (MEA).

Shotgun injures Romulus resident

A Romulus man was injured by an apparent accidental shotgun blast last Wednesday night.

Henry Smith, 45, of 6323 Carnegie, told Wayne County Sheriff detectives he had just returned to his duplex home after work and was entering the living room when he was struck in the left arm by a shotgun blast. The discharge came through the north wall of his living room.

with Hatch earlier in the evening, told police Hatch had been acting strangely, walking around his home waving the shotgun. The neighbor left before the incident.

Sheriff detectives will seek a charge of careless use of a firearm against Hatch.

Smith is listed in good condition in Wayne County General Hospital.

Crova retiring after 31 years

Joseph Crova, 57, is retiring after 31 years as chief of the Romulus Fire Department.

Crova, has been the chief since the department was organized in 1941.

The department has grown under his direction from its initial 12-men staff to a present staff of 48 volunteers.

JOSEPH CROVA

present time seven vehicles which are all radio equipped. There are four fire stations in the city with a captain and lieutenant in charge of each.

Crova's many friends are having a retirement party for him at the Romulus Progressive Hall, located at 11580 Ozga Rd., Romulus, at 7 p.m. Sept. 30.

There will be refreshments, dinner and dancing. A program and presentations are being planned.

The Romulus Fire Department is recognized as one of the finest volunteer fire departments in the United States. Its record of protecting life and property through the years ranks it with many full-time departments, city officials say.

Crova, his wife, Freda, and son, William, reside at 37054 Grant Rd., Romulus. Another son, John, resides next door with his family. Both sons serve on the city's fire department.

Since their mother occasionally answers the fire department telephone, they represent a complete fire fighting family, believed to be the first and only one in Western Wayne County.

Romulus council to buy land

The Romulus City Council authorized the purchase of approximately five acres of land in the city for park facilities.

At Thursday's meeting, the city council instructed Parks and Recreation Director Frank J. Tolish and City Attorney John M. Young to enter into a purchase agreement to buy the land parcel for the further development of the Elmer Johnson Park, a 16-acre site owned by the city.

The five-acre parcel, if successfully purchased, is basically bounded by Wick, Shook, McBride and Ozga Roads. It will be added to the 16-acre site.

The parks and recreation department and the city council hope to acquire another 10 acres for the park.

The proposed recreational facilities for the Elmer

Johnson Park will include picnic areas, nature trails, shelters, baseball diamonds and asphalt foundations for basketball, tennis and ice skating.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) approved a $54,342 grant for the project more than a year ago. The city started planning the park in May, 1971.

The park grant from the DNR called for a 30-acre park facility. The initial plans for the park as prepared by the city in May, 1971 were based on a 15-acre park site.

Tolish discovered the DNR grant was based on a larger park site. Instead of costing $12,000 to build the proposed park, it will now cost $20,000 due to increases in construction costs since the initial plans were submitted to the DNR and the grant approval, he said.

The DNR directed the city to acquire another 14 acres and the action Thursday by the city council was the initial step in that direction.

If unsuccessful in the purchase of additional land, the DNR grant will be decreased accordingly.

The city must determine whether it can acquire the remaining land before construction work can begin at the park site.

City property owners object to factory permit

The issuance of a building permit by the Romulus Building Department authorizing United Brass Manufacturing Inc., to expand its present Romulus facilities at 35030 Goddard Rd., brought strenuous objections from two adjacent property owners and the filing of a law suit.

Larry Davis and William Richardson, co-owners of property at 35084 Goddard Rd. charged the building permit was illegally issued by the city's building department and in violation of the city's master zoning ordinance.

Davis and Richardson live on the property which is adjacent to the plant's expansion project.

Their attorney Ralph Pagnucco of Allen Park has initiated a law suit in Wayne County Circuit Court asking the court to issue a temporary injunction restraining the firm from continuing with its expansion program which is an alleged violation of city zoning laws.

United Brass Manufacturing has on the basis of its approved building permit, started construction on a $200,000-to-$250,000 expansion program.

The firm, which has been in the City of Romulus for the last 18 years is located in a M-2 zone (factory use) and is presently building on an adjacent one-acre land parcel zoned O-1 (office use).

Circuit Court Judge John P. O'Hara refused on Sept. 15 to use a temporary injunction, but advised the attorneys representing the firm that if the company proceeds with its expansion it does so at its own peril, according to Pagnucco.

The homestead occupied by both Davis and Richardson is located in a O-1 zoning. It was previously zoned residential.

The firm exercised its option to purchase the one-acre land site after it received approval of its construction plans and was issued the building permit.

The company has expended approximately $75,000 on the new expansion project, according to officials.

Calyton W. Meldrum, manager of the Romulus Building Department and chief building inspector, was asked Monday to explain the building department's issuance of the building permit for the construction of factory facilities in an O-1 zoning area.

He admitted that the department had made an error. He disclosed that the city's former director of planning and development, Charles W. Hazen told him the expansion program of the firm had been checked and cleared and for him (Meldrum) to check the company's blue prints on the proposed expansion when the blue prints are received.

He said he later reviewed the blue prints, found them to be in compliance with city codes and regulations and issued the building permit.

A request to rezone the land parcel from O-1 (office use) to M-2 (factory) recently was filed by the firm with the Romulus Planning Commission.

Chamber of commerce names new manager

Ron F. Rowley is the new manager of finance and development for the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, President Harry R. Hall has announced.

Rowley, a former special representative for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, began his duties Aug. 16.

A graduate of Western Michigan University in political science, Rowley has held various sales positions with companies like Clark Equipment in Benton Harbor, Athey Products Corp. in Raleigh, N.C., and was deputy county clerk in Kalamazoo.

Rowley replaces Harry J. Buckel, 26, who took a job with Panax Corp. in East Lansing, as director of Public Relations. He is 33 years old, married, with two children.

Huron Board of Education approves levy on property

A school property tax levy in the amount of $1,018,432 for the 1972 tax year has been approved by the Huron Board of Education.

The tax levy is based on a school operating millage assessment of $27.83 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation, state equalized in Huron Township and $20.65 tax assessment in Sumpter Township which also is served by the Huron School District.

The tax levy for the 1972 year is slightly below that of the 1971 tax assessment due to a decrease in the tax allocation to the Huron School District by the Wayne County Tax Allocation Board.

In other action the Huron Board of Education formally adopted the following official administrative organization pattern for the 1972-73 school year's operation.

Byron K. Antcliff, superintendent; Carl Renton, assistant superintendent; Luke Wegienka, assistant to the superintendent and federal coordinator; William Miller, Huron Senior High School principal; John Hampson, assistant high school principal; Frank Brown, Huron Junior High School principal.

David Schultz, Hannan Road Elementary School principal and William Balwinski, Riverside Elementary School principal and director of Section 111 program.

The school board also approved an attendance schedule for school district secretaries, clerks and aides.

Openings available for city adult school

Many Romulus Continuing Education activities still have openings for registrations. William Smith, community school director for the district reported Monday.

Students who wish to enroll for the Adult High School program are urged to register this week from 7-10 p.m. at the Romulus Senior High School, 9650 S. Wayne Rd.

The deadline to register for the special interest and recreational activities is Sept. 25, and enrollments can be made in person, by mail or by telephone. The Continuing Education number is 941-1600 extension 37. Mail should be addressed to 36540 Grant Rd., 48174 Mich.

—Approved the transfer of Miss Jessie White to the Romulus Planning Department from her temporary assignment at the city hall's reception desk — switchboard, and directed the city treasurer Albert Glinksi to hire a receptionist and switchboard operator immediately. Miss White previously had been with the planning department. The council also approved a request of David Paul, assistant DPW director for the city to attend sessions of the American Public Works Association Workshop to be held in Toronto, Canada on Oct. 10-11 at a cost to the city of $177.

Horticultural agent is chosen for program

Gerald Draheim, Wayne County horticultural agent, is one of 31 Michigan Cooperative Extension Service employees chosen to participate in the agency's "Quest For Quality" professional improvement program.

The two-year program combines study with travel. Participants will attend three, week-long seminars at Michigan State University (MSU) during each of the two years. Seminar material will be drawn from political science, economics, sociology, communications, philosophy, history and education. In addition, an in-state study tour will be conducted during the first year.

The "Quest For Quality" program is funded in part by a grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation to Michigan State University's Center for Rural

MERE CHRISTIANITY

Accepting Christ is not just some sort of mystical or emotional experience. It involves recognition of the authority of Christ. It means surrendering wholly to him. Yet instances may be multiplied wherein men vainly endeavor to have Christ as their Saviour while rejecting him as their Lord.

Our Lord teaches that the faith which saves is a faith which includes submission to him in the act of baptism. He established baptism, in fact, as a condition of salvation. See Mark 16:16; Acts 2:38; 22:16; Rom. 6:3-4; Gal. 3:26-27; Eph. 5:25-27; 1 Pet. 3:20-21.

But some will not yield to the Lord. They disregard the Lord who alone can save and take it upon themselves to offer salvation without the act of submission in which the Lord cleanses and saves.

Some of our readers will want to accept the Lord completely and receive his salvation. If you would like a thorough study of the verses referred to above, write us for a free copy of the booklet, Baptism in the Scheme of Redemption.

MERE CHRISTIANITY is presented by the Christians who meet at 9426 S. Wayne Road in Romulus. Watch for it each week. Sunday services are at 10 (Bible study) and 11 A.M. and 6 P.M. Write for free BIBLE CORRESPONDENCE COURSE to Church of Christ, Box 155, Romulus, Michigan, 48174.

Legislators' tally sheet

Each week the Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman will list a tally of local legislators' voting — both state and national — on major roll call issues in Lansing and Washington D.C. respectively during the previous week.

The legislators include State Sen. William Faust (Democrat - 13th District) for the cities of Belleville and Romulus and townships of Huron and Van Buren; State Sen. John E. McCauley (Democrat - 12th District) for Sumpter Township; State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (Democrat - 38th District) for all of the above listed areas; U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (Democrat - 15th District) for all of the above listed areas, and U.S. Senators Philip A. Hart (Democrat) and Robert P. Griffin (Republican) for the State of Michigan.

A synopsis of the measures will be published, followed by their disposition and local legislators' actions.

U.S. SENATE

(Week of Sept. 4-8)

Senate vote on Senate amendment to change the formula for distributing federal revenue sharing money by giving a larger share to urbanized states. Defeated, 24-61. Yea - Hart. No vote - Griffin.

U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

(Week of Sept. 4-8)

House vote on conference report on legislation to provide for the continuation of a variety of programs to aid low-income groups under the Economic Opportunity Act. Passed, 223-97. Bill sent to President. Yea - Ford.

U.S. SENATE

Senate vote on bill to approve a five-year $33.5 billion federal revenue sharing plan with the money to be distributed to the states and local governmental units. Passed, 63-20. Bill sent to Senate-House conference committee. Yea-Griffin, Hart.

Senate vote on interim agreement between the United States and Soviet Union calling for a five-year limitation on strategic offensive nuclear arms after first amending resolution to toughen America's bargaining position in the next round of the U.S.-Soviet arms control talks. The toughening amendment, authored by Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Washington), insisted that American negotiators demand greater "equality" of weapons in negotiating for a permanent Agreement. Passed, 88-2. Yea-Hart. No vote-Griffin. (Hart voted against the amendment, while Griffin was absent.)

U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

House vote on House bill to appropriate $7.6 billion for the military, marking the largest one-year military outlay since World War II. Passed, 332-40. Yea-Ford.

House vote on House measure to require a withdrawal of U.S. forces and an end to all American military activities in Indochina within four months, subject to release of war prisoners. Defeated, 160-208. No vote-Ford.

Senior citizens triple members

The Romulus Senior Citizens Club has tripled its active membership to 150 members.

The city's recreation department has supervised many of the activities and programs of the senior citizens club during the last several weeks.

The club's activities also have been expanded from pot luck dinners and bazaars.

Guest speakers before the club's membership have been representatives from police agencies, the Social Security Administration and Soil Conservation Service. On Tuesday, 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone will speak to the club.

The Romulus Senior Citizens Club meets weekly in the Romulus Municipal Building community room. Meetings are held on Tuesday.

Department reps help in school coordination

An experimental program is being tried in the Van Buren Township junior high schools.

Departmental representatives have been appointed to assist in the coordination of the school program. They will conduct meetings of their departments, survey curricular needs, check on equipment and coordinate their department with the others in their school building.

Representatives from the following departments have been selected — English, social studies, mathematics, science, art, home economics, industrial arts and physical education.

These representatives will conduct meetings for the department and work with the staff and administration in developing a continually improving system of education for the students of the school district.

Each department has recommended members to the building principal, who makes the final selection of a single representative for each department.

The members chosen from the North Junior High School are:

Art, Mrs. Mary Smith; English, Mrs. Helen Stokes; home economics, Mrs. Eugenia Ferguson; industrial arts, George Howard; mathematics, Larry Tabor; physical education, Mrs. Mary Baribeau; science, Fred Newstead; and social studies, Bruce Romant.

The Representatives from the South Junior High School are as follows:

Art, Miss Gwen Buege; English, Wayne Salow; home economics, Mrs. Virginia Schimmel; industrial arts, Richard Kiessel; mathematics, James Farrer; physical education, Richard Leheiser; science, William Houston; and social studies, Royce Disbrow.

Departmental representatives have been busy planning with their respective departments for this year's activities. Many are updating curriculum guides, taking inventory of old equipment, grouping children within the schedule for better assistance and, in many other ways, creating a better educational team.

Council approves sale of land

The land sale approved by the council ends approximately 10 years of urban renewal planning. The urban renewal development program was initiated in 1962 when Romulus was a township.

In August of 1971, the City of Romulus (incorporated) as a city in May, 1970) began to purchase land, basically bounded by Van Born Road, Howe Road, Beverly Road and Chamberlain Street, the location of the 175-acre land parcel.

Of the initial federal grant of $3 million to finance the government's share of the urban renewal program, the city has spent approximately $2 million for land acquisition, paving and sewer programs in the area.

The city's share of approximately $750,000 (representing one-fourth share of the total financing) will be returned to the city in taxes the new multi-million development will bring, Wilhelm said.

Of the 175 acres set aside in the initial phase of the city's urban renewal, Wilhelm reported that 15 acres will be used for multiple-family housing, six acres for parks, 3.5 acres for shops and businesses and the remainder for single family residences.

MEA files objections

DETROIT — The Michigan Education Association (MEA) recently charged that "major deficiencies" existed in the school desegregation plans developed by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. John Porter and an 11-member panel established by U.S. District Judge Stephen Roth.

The MEA, which was permitted to enter the Detroit school desegregation case on behalf of suburban teachers, filed its objections in Roth's U.S. District Court in Detroit. Roth's finding of de jure segregation and his desegregation order is in appeal in Sixth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

The MEA argued in its brief that authority over and financing of schools should be left in the hands of local school boards, and the rights of teachers must be protected.

Church will hold promotion day

Promotion Day for church school youngsters will be held during the 11 a.m. worship service at the United Methodist Church, Olive Street, Romulus, on Sept. 24. All children will be presented with promotion certificates at the services.

The list of church school teachers and helpers for the fall term is as follows:

Nursery I, Ruth Mathieu; Connee Morris, helper;

Nursery II, Shirley Burcroff, Debbie Wahrman, helper; Kindergarten, Cheryl Mowen, Alberta Grames, helper; Grades 1 and 2, Mary Oakley, Gloria Chandler, helper; Grades 3, 4, Arlene Ferris; Grades 5, 6, Marge McCrory; and Grades 7-9, Pat Taylor.

The first meeting of the church school teachers, helpers and substitutes will be held Monday, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the Romulus church.

Aviation sales, service opens

A new aviation sales and service organization has opened in the Detroit metropolitan area. Page Airways, an international operation, opened its Detroit Metropolitan Airport facility recently.

The firm sells jet and piston airplanes, ranging from single engine models to the $4 million Gruman Gulfstream II, the largest corporate plane sold.

In addition to sales, the firm maintains planes and provides complete ground services for private crafts, according to Frank Osborn, manager of the Metro Air, ort facility.

Community college organization formed

Recognizing a growing need for working more closely together on a voluntary basis, nine community colleges in the greater Detroit area have formed a new organization to be known as the Southeastern Michigan League of Community Colleges.

Meeting at Schoolcraft College in Livonia recently, presidents and representatives elected C. Nelson Grote of Schoolcraft as the league's first chairman, and Stuart M. Bundy of Henry Ford Community College as recording secretary.

One of the initial goals of the new league will be to focus on instructional programs and services. With the aid of chief academic officials, it will assemble a report on existing cooperative efforts, and identify future projects and set priorities.

The new league believes that the best approach to planning and coordination of community colleges is through voluntary regional association. Through these efforts they hope to demonstrate the need of such a system as a substitute for a required state-wide system of control, or at least affect such a system when it is considered.

In Michigan, the Council on Higher Education is currently considering the coordination of higher education. It serves in an advisory capacity to the State Board of Education. There is also a State Task Force being considered by the Governor's Office that will begin a study of state coordination and master planning for higher education, which will include community colleges.

The league's next meeting will be held at St. Clair County Community College in October. Each president will be accompanied by his chief academic officer, who will have met earlier with Dr. Robert Kollin, dean of instruction at Monroe County Community College and coordinator for the meeting. Michigan has a total of 29 public community colleges.

Madonna taps new director

Miss Pamela Petoskey, admissions counselor at Madonna College in Livonia since 1971, has been appointed director of admissions at the coeducational liberal arts college.

She will have overall responsibility for recruitment and admission of new students from high schools, community colleges and those returning for post-secondary education.

Graduating from the University of Detroit in 1970 with a bachelor's in psychology, Miss Petoskey remained at the University to complete her master's degree in education. She has been admitted to the University of Michigan in a degree program for the educational specialist.

Working with her will be John Carroll, who has been appointed full-time admissions counselor and off-campus recruiter. He came from Eastern Michigan University, where he was a teaching fellow. He was graduated from EMU with a bachelor's in speech and sociology and a master's in speech.

Joint meet set

The Romulus Board of Education has accepted an invitation from the Romulus City Council for a joint meeting of the city council and school board.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 2 at the Ramada Inn, 8260 Wickham Rd., Romulus.

Matters and programs of mutual interest will be discussed at the meeting.

Voters to speak again on fast time issue

By DON HOENSHELL Associated Newspapers Lansing Bureau

Voters will get a second chance Nov. 7 to make their summer evenings one hour longer on the same timetable observed by all but two other states.

Only Michigan, Arizona and Hawaii have exempted themselves from the federal Uniform Time Act of 1966 and Daylight Savings Time (DST) or fast time.

The ballot issue will be whether to adopt DST for Michigan and move the clock one hour forward between the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October, returning to Eastern Standard Time (EST) for the rest of the year.

Voters unofficially rejected DST Nov. 5, 1970 by 1,501 votes out of 2.9 million cast. Recounts in outstate counties later cut the margin of defeat to 490 votes.

But the controversy raged on through the courts, the Board of State Canvassers and among the backers and opponents of one more hour of daylight for six months of the year.

The primary sponsors of the DST campaigns have been the members of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

EDITOR'S NOTE — The accompanying article is one in a series of stories concerning the five statewide proposals to be included on the November 8 ballot. Listed is the language of one of the proposals.

PROPOSAL A

PROPOSAL TO CHANGE MICHIGAN TO DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

The proposed law would change Michigan to Daylight Saving Time from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in October of each year.

Arrayed against them was a coalition of farm, movie theater, bar and bowling alley operators and housewives who envisioned a one-hour delay in bedtime.

Michigan's problems with the time of day in the summer date to 1883 when the railroads divided the nation into four time zones to meet their scheduling requirements.

The system was based on mean solar time at the 75th, 90th, 105th and 120th meridians west of Greenwich, which had been established as the mean time for all of England.

Port Huron, the easternmost point in Michigan, is slightly east of 82 degrees, 30 minutes; the western part of the Upper Peninsula is west of 90 degrees.

However, the railroad zone system placed Michigan in the Central Standard Time (CST) zone based on the 90th meridian. The legislature formalized this position in 1885.

Congress adopted the four time zones for the nation in 1918, but the DST feature was repealed the next year. Detroit remained on Eastern Standard Time throughout World War I and later while the rest of the state observed CST.

In 1931, the legislature placed all of Michigan on Eastern Standard Time. There followed a mish-mash of time observances as some outstate counties, including some in the U.P., defied the order. During World War II Michigan was ordered on DST by Congress.

Congress, under pressure to bring order out of chaos in the postwar period, finally in 1966 passed the Uniform Time Act, allowing states to exempt themselves from the DST feature.

Michigan legislators exempted Michigan March 24, 1967, but the chamber forced a referendum, which carried, and DST was observed for a time.

But the 1968 election reversed the decision and the state is on EST, together with Hawaii and Arizona keeping the exemption from the federal act.

DST proponents argue that it would keep Michigan on the same timetable as the rest of the nation, restoring the hour lost in business transactions that cross state lines.

They contend that an extra hour of daylight would reduce crime and delinquency, provide health benefits, improve traffic safety, benefit the tourist industry and keep radio and television schedules intact.

Farmers contend that crops cannot be harvested until the dew is off the leaves. Outdoor theaters would lose an hour of showtime, bars and bowling alleys would lose an hour of business.

The latest proposal for DST was placed on the ballot by petition for a referendum.

In our opinion

Despite everything, Olympics are worthy

Now that the 20th Olympiad is history, we must sit back and contemplate about all of the tragic and otherwise controversial events that took place in Munich.

Are the Olympic Games worth it? Having been a personal acquaintance with four Olympic competitors — two of them owners of gold medals — from past Games and two respected gentlemen who have spent thousands of dollars from their own fortunes to enhance the Olympic movement, we have to say "yes."

However, the seemingly anti-American actions that occurred in Munich took so much of the enjoyment out of watching the recent Games that we did wonder about their merit.

Was it because we were obliged to watch the Games on American television that virtually all of the controversy — other than the Arab-Israeli incident — involved only United States competitors? Or did entries from other nations also have a variety of problems?

In our limited viewing of the Olympic television coverage, we did see an English boxer come out on the wrong end of a decision in our opinion — despite his knocking down his opponent and seemingly having the better of the rest of the bout.

However, that decision could compare in no way with the controversial finish of the United States-Russia basketball game or the action against the 16-year-old California swimmer for taking an over-the-counter drug for an asthma condition or the international handling of the appeals in both cases.

We almost hoped that every American medal winner would have told the International Olympic Committee to keep their awards, whether they be gold, silver or bronze. However, knowing the way two Tokyo Games winners in 1964 felt about their gold medals, we knew that would never happen. Too much effort was put forth by the competitors.

The Munich Games served as another example of the anti-American feeling shown not too long ago in the admission of Communist China and expulsion of Nationalist China at the United Nations. Despite that political slap in the face, we still believe the United Nations is a better route to go than having the United States pull out of that body.

The recent Olympics also taught us a lesson in interpretive reporting. Those who watched the marathon race last Sunday will remember author Eric Segal — ABC's distance track authority and color commentator — reading all kinds of comments into the facial expressions of eventual winner Frank Shorter as he covered the final yards of the more than 26-mile event in the Olympic Stadium.

Just as Shorter had entered the tunnel into the stadium, an unknown runner came darting out onto the stadium track about a half lap ahead of the American runner. Segal was raving for someone to get the impostor off the track and let Shorter know he was the legitimate frontrunner. As the American trackman put various contortions into his face, Segal was telling how bewildered Shorter was at having someone suddenly appear in front of him.

In the post event interview, Shorter candidly took Segal — who also was one of the runner's professors at Yale — that he never saw the other guy.

So much for television showmanship, at least for the author of "Love Story."

Speaking of schools

Paper's staff works together for success

By MRS. MARY ANN GRIER
Tiger News Advisor Belleville High School

"This is a classroom?" Anyone passing by room 233 during fourth hour is probably going to ask this question. And why not? It is during this time that the classroom takes on the characteristics of a real newsroom — noise, confusion and bedlam.

The Tiger Print staff is at work, preparing to put out its first paper of the 1972-73 school year. But all is not fun and games as one might think! To find enough material to fill six pages is not easy in a school of 1,500 students.

The news staff must sharpen their noses and smell out a story, no matter where it is hiding. It can be very hard to find news during some months.

The feature staff must constantly think of new, exciting and interesting ideas to adorn the amusement page. It seems easy, but as the year wears on, the ideas wear out.

The editorial staff can be very opinionated — or there can be little that deserves expressing opinions. Their job is difficult — to instigate helpful change, bring to light undesirable conditions, protest unfavorable actions, yet not insult and cast slander and libel around carelessly. It is often difficult to draw the line between these two sides of the coin.

The sports staff must spend much time after school covering athletic events. Also, they chase down the coaches and top stars to ask their opinions and views of the big game. Sports page reporting is especially hard between seasons, when there is little action to report on.

Once all the material is gathered, many people think that is all the work there is to be done. Wrong! Each story and article must be typed, edited, copy read and sent to the printer.

Advertisers must be found, since advertising pays more than 75 per cent of the expenses of a newspaper. The Tiger Print has often had problems finding enough advertising revenue. Belleville is only so big, and there aren't many businesses in town.

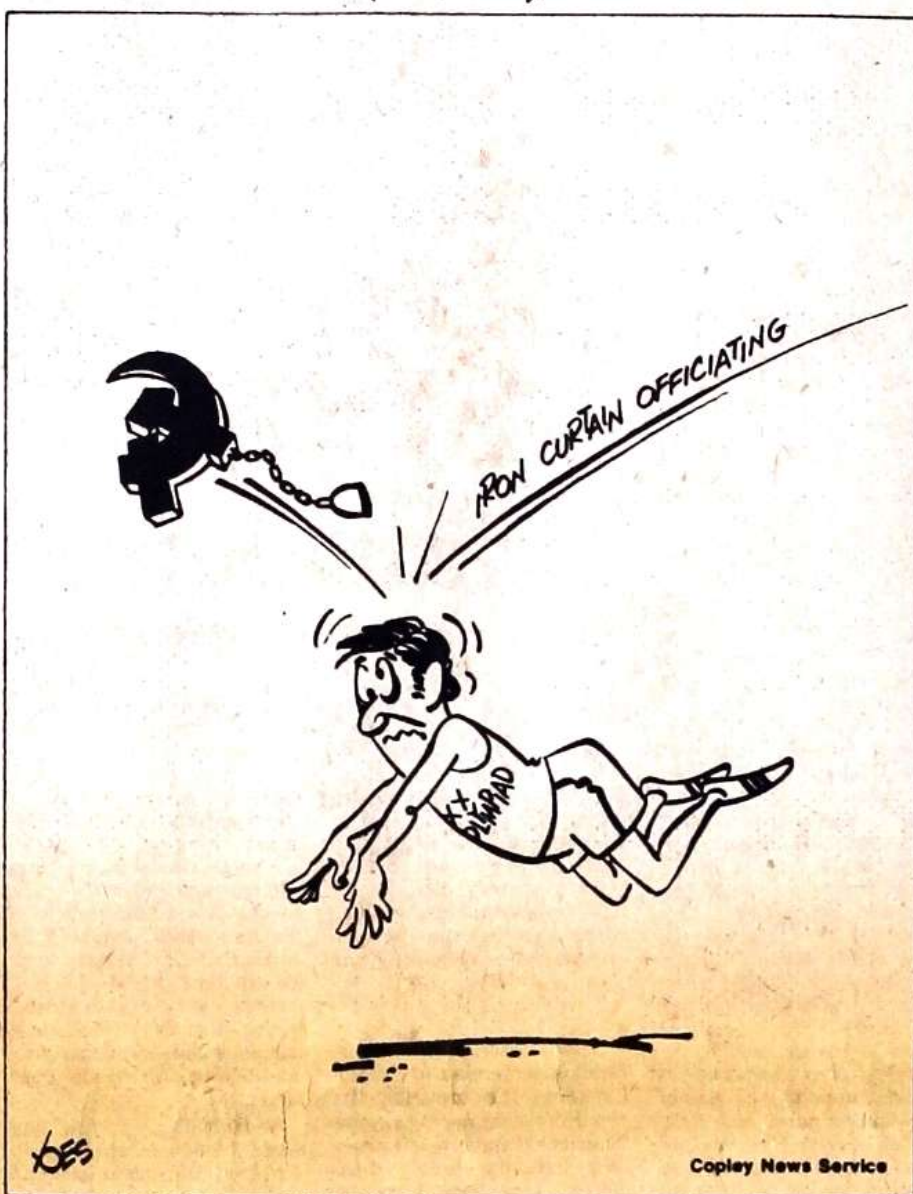

Finally comes distribution day, when the fruits of the efforts are realized. Staff members canvas the school during homeroom selling the newspapers. Many people buy one, including the teachers.

The staff can breathe a sigh of relief — the two weeks of hard work have paid off. Then, the cycle starts all over again.

Consumers: be wary of contract clauses

EDITOR'S NOTE — The accompanying article is the first of a two-part series by State Sen. William Faust on retail installment sales.

Don't be lured into signing contracts with provisions that are unfair and illegal or, for that matter, before you have full and fair information about your obligations.

According to a survey conducted by the Michigan Consumers Council on retail installment sales contracts currently in use, they found frequent violations of provisions of both the Michigan Retail Installment Sales Act and the Federal Truth-in-Lending Law.

Many consumers don't realize that various state and federal laws exist to protect them from fraudulent commercial practices.

If an installment contract contains a clause which says that you, the buyer, cannot assert any defense or counterclaim against the seller — or person to whom the seller transfers the contract — this is a waiver of defense. It means that you have to pay the installments whether or not you receive the goods or services that you have purchased.

Under Michigan law, such a waiver of defense clause is illegal. As a buyer, you don't have to sign any sales contract which contains such a provision. As a matter of record, the buyer is entitled to withhold interest and service charges from payments made on a contract which contains such a statement.

Another item which the buyer should always insist on,

By WILLIAM FAUST,
State Senator, 13th District

as part of his retail installment contract, is information on the annual rate of interest. Each contract must include a written statement with the phrase "annual percentage rate" and the seller must specify what that rate is. This is a requirement of the Truth-in-Lending Law.

This consumer act is primarily a law requiring disclosure. It does not limit finance charges. Here are some of the disclosures that must be made by merchants who sell on credit, and by other credit grantors:

- Cash price
- Down payment
- Total amount financed
- Finance charge
- Annual percentage rate of finance charge
- Late charges
- Total of payments
- Amounts of payments
- And certain other information

The Truth-in-Lending Law requires that disclosure must be made clearly and conspicuously in writing and before credit is extended. This can be done in the contract that is signed to complete a credit transaction. Disclosure can also be made in a separate document given to the potential debtor before he signs the credit contract.

Premiums for credit life, accident or health insurance may no longer be hidden. If obtaining such insurance is part of the transaction, the debtor must be fully informed of the requirement and the cost.

If such insurance is offered, but is not a required item in order to obtain credit, the potential debtor, if he wants the insurance, must indicate so in writing. He must also state that written disclosure of the cost has been made to him.

Revolving credit accounts are governed by somewhat different disclosure requirements. However, at the time such an account is opened the customer must be told details of the account's operation, including the rate of finance charge and how the finance charge is determined, and the annual percentage rate.

Disclosures must also be made on the statements sent to customers. Among other things, this has the effect of requiring the disclosure that a 1 1/2 per cent a month charge is equal to an annual percentage rate of 18 per cent.

This decade of accelerated activity on behalf of consumers now is beginning to achieve both visible results and increasing momentum. Both legislators and the public have come to understand the real significance of providing more protection for consumers in today's complex merchandise and money world.

New school bus personnel 'wonderful'

To the editor:
The people at the new Van Buren school bus service are wonderful.

When I talked to Mr. Roberts about my son's kindergarten bus, he was most pleasant and helpful.

Another man, whose name I unfortunately didn't get, even came out to our morning bus stop.

I find this both amazing and gratifying. These fine people are a welcome addition to the Belleville-Van Buren area.

Credit cards: necessary evil

By THEODORE F. KUCKELMAN
Executive Secretary
Belleville Chamber of Commerce

Are credit cards becoming a replacement for money? Apparently not, according to a study of credit card use by the U. of M. Institute for Social Research (ISR).

Lewis Mandell, who directed the study, said, "Families using credit cards tend to write more checks per month than families who do not use such cards, even after the effect of income and age have been taken into account." Interestingly, Americans regard their many credit cards, even though widely used, as a necessary evil. "Few Americans tend to think of credit cards as a good thing, whether they use them or not," Mandell said.

Wedding vows recited under summer skies

On a perfect summer day, August 19, in a meadow tucked away behind green trees and bushes at Lower Huron Metropolitan Park, Alan Maki took Pamela Phillips as his bride.

Over 200 were present under sunny skies to see the Rev. John Losen from Bethany Baptist Church perform the double ring nuptials which included vows written and repeated from memory by the couple.

"The Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet" was played as Pam walked to her waiting bridegroom with her father who had taped a special love poem to his daughter which was then played.

The bridal attendants walked up the aisle to a piano version of "Nights in White Satin" taped by a friend, Cindy Hook of Belleville. When everyone was in place, the bride's younger sister,

Michelle, sang "We've Only Just Begun."

PARENTS OF the bride and groom are Mrs. Mrs. Dale Phillips of 44700 Kozma Road, Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. George Maki of 10484 Quirk Road, Belleville.

For the four thirty nuptials, the bride chose a Christian Dior creation of white polyester satin, its cutaway shoulders sweeping upward into a high collar. A wide belt of the same material shaped the natural waistline with the soft skirt falling to ankle length.

An elbow-length scarf of patterned veiling was tied in her hair and she carried a presentation bouquet of fusi mums and white roses tied with purple ribbon.

Gaylinn Phillips of Ann Arbor was her sister's maid of honor in a summer gown with narrow shoulder straps gracing the shirred bodice which followed into a full-length skirt. The basic color of purple was splashed with bright yellow, orange, green and pink. The purple-tipped white fusi mums she carried were arranged in a presentation bouquet tied with long purple streamers.

BRIDESMAIDS WERE Carol Vetovis of Cumberland, Rhode Island, the bride's college roommate; and Debra Phillips and Linda Maki, sisters of the bride.

Their frocks, made by Mrs. Charles Doty of Belleville, were of deep purple polyester satin and fashioned along the same lines as the honor maid's. The elbow-length scarves tied in their hair were made of matching fabric.

The bridegroom asked Ed King of Belleville to serve as best man. Ushers were Chuck Hesson of Taylor; Bob Dayringer of Ithaca; and Walt Petsch of Taylor.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Phillips chose an ankle-length frock with an all-over design in purple, navy, light blue, and green. Her corsage was made of white carnations as was the wrist corsage worn by Mrs. Maki, the bridegroom's mother. Her full-length dress was in hot pink.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the park with a buffet lunch and four-tiered heart-shaped cake being served. The newlyweds later departed for a week-long honeymoon at Cove Haven Honeymoon Resort in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania.

The Makis are now junior resident advisor's at Becker Junior College in Worcester, Massachusetts where the bride is a senior at Clark University. She is also employed in Worcester by a foreign travel company, The American Leadership Study Groups, as a secretary.

The bridegroom is a 1972 graduate of Eastern Michigan University where he received his B.S. degree in education.

Two evenings before the wedding, after rehearsal in the park, some 20 members of the wedding party and their families enjoyed a dinner prepared by the mothers of the bride and bridegroom at the Phillips home on Kozma Road.

"BITTERBALLEN" — A DUTCH TREAT — A delicious man-pleasing party snack that's a simple combination of a seasoned roux (a very thick gravy) and finely chopped roast beef. The recipe is from the Holiday Inn chef in Leiden, Holland who serves it with a tangy mustard and a full-bodied Dutch beer. It is a

'Bitterballen' is party treat

Dutch artists Pieter Brueghel and Frans Hals earned the title of "painters of the bourgeoisie" known as genre art. Their scenes of farming, families and villagers give us some of the first examples of everyday life of the 16th century. Before that, artists painted only royalty and religious figures.

The integrity that made it possible for the Dutch artists to see beauty in common things is reflected in the honesty of their cuisine. Except for their Indonesian feasts, a good portion of Dutch food is plain, good cooking. The kind that is especially pleasing to a man. The hot and hearty flavor of "Bitterballen" from the Holiday Inn chef in Leiden, Holland is a good example.

This party snack is a simple combination of a seasoned roux (a very thick gravy) and finely chopped roast beef. It's shaped into balls, rolled in bread crumbs, beaten egg and more bread crumbs. At this point it can be held until you're ready to deep fry it. Or, complete the cooking and reheat just before serving. The crisp, tasty Bitterballen can also be frozen and reheated. The Holiday Inn chef serves them with a tangy mustard and a full-bodied Dutch beer.

For a party menu add a combination of fresh vegetables (green pepper, carrots, celery, radishes and cauliflower) and Chili Con Queso Dip and corn chips. The culinary artist responsible for this recipe is the Holiday Inn chef from Sweetwater, Texas. Both recipes are from the Holiday Inn International Cook Book.

Bitterballen

- 1 medium onion, minced
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup beef stock or canned consommé
- 2 cups cooked beef, finely chopped
- 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 2 eggs, beaten
- oil

In a small skillet, saute onion in butter until golden. Add flour and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and lightly browned. Remove from heat; gradually stir in beef stock. Cook, and stir until very thick. Cool. Stir in beef; season to taste. Shape into 1-inch balls. Roll in bread crumbs, beaten egg, and bread crumbs again. Fry in deep hot oil (400 degrees) for 1 to 2 minutes, until golden brown. Drain on paper towels. Serve hot with mustard. Can be reheated or frozen and reheated. Makes about 3 dozen.

Chili Con Queso Dip

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 teaspoons minced green chili pepper (or use 1 cup canned tomato pulp, chopped)
- 1 cup chopped tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 8 oz. American cheese, grated
- 8 oz. Cheddar cheese, grated

Saute onion and garlic in butter. Add chili peppers, tomatoes, salt and water; simmer 10 to 15 minutes. Stir in cheese. Keep warm in a chafing dish. Makes about 4 cups.

Woman's Page Deadline Thursday--2 P.M.

For and about Suburban Women

Don't forget your checking account

As the most mobile nation on earth, Americans change their residences with what other nations regard as dizzying frequency. But with a little foresight and planning, house moving can be accomplished with ease if not pleasure.

Unfortunately, while most families remember to call the packers, the movers, the electric company and the telephone company, too many wait too long before transferring their bank accounts. And let's face it, why should the hardware store in your new town accept a stranger's check drawn on a bank 2000 miles away?

A much easier course when you're moving from one city to another is to visit an officer of the full service bank which currently holds your accounts. He will gladly write a letter of introduction to a bank located in the city where you intend taking up residence, therefore simplifying the whole transfer.

Additionally, if you can select the actual branch along the lines of convenience to your new home before you make your move, things can be simpler.

Armed with your letter of introduction, spend a few minutes with an officer of the new bank and he will arrange for a smooth transfer of your savings and checking accounts. Thus when you are finally moved in, the new accounts will be ready for you to use. You'll be able to write checks for those hundred and one things that need to be paid for in a new house without being subject to questioning stares at local stores.

There will surely be inevitable frustrations connected with the move. Make sure your bank account isn't one of them.

Annual breakfast highlights meeting

The Huron Valley Garden Club met recently for its annual breakfast at Howard Johnson's Restaurant with 19 members present. The president, Mrs. Adger Wall, called the meeting to order by reading the Collect.

The District 1 Annual Meeting will be held October 4 at Veteran's Memorial Building at Grosse Pointe. Several members will attend.

The club will have a 'weed out' of all materials formerly used at flower shows as well as other possessions of the club. A committee will be appointed by the president to take charge of this project.

The horticulture chairman, Mrs. La Verne Sayre, spoke to members about mulching of grass clippings. The group was also advised that now is the time to divide peonies, irises and day lilies.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Adger Wall of Huron River Drive when each member will bring a flower arrangement to be judged by members of the club.

Sandwich spread

For a delicious liver sausage spread, beat one 3-ounce package cream cheese with 2 tablespoons lemon juice and an 8-ounce package liver sausage. Add 1 envelope dry onion soup mix, 1 tablespoon horseradish, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1 small can (2-3 cup) evaporated milk, beating until blended. Chill before serving. Spread on crackers. Makes about 2 cups.

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

The cries of a woman attacked by hoodlums are ignored. Witnesses refuse to help, appear unconcerned. The story makes headlines. BUT — other things happen too, and often.

For example, a radio station burned out completely. Everything was lost. The four competitive stations (normally slugging each other for business), promptly and unhesitatingly lent assistance. Equipment, records, commercial tapes, mobile units were supplied on loan. The burned out station was on the air in four hours. Another example: A pedestrian saw a mother and two children in panic on a second floor porch; their home on fire. He promptly scaled the outside wall to reach and comfort them in their plight until firemen came to their rescue. Similar stories of good deeds can be told by the thousands.

The world is NOT all bad. There are many people with humanistic qualities; kindness, compassion, understanding and soul. MOST people are NOT immune to the dangers, rights, struggles and heartaches of others. Cries for help do NOT always fall on deaf ears — in spite of impressionable headlines to the contrary.

Rust-Raze can take the rust out of your water softener. And out of your life.

When rust builds up in your water softener, it can seriously affect your softener's ability to soften water.

Rust-Raze™, from Morton Salt, removes the rust and lets your softener get back to work.

Where iron is present in the water supply, you can tell the difference immediately with clearer, better tasting water.

Rust-Raze will also clean rust stains from white fabrics, glass, porcelain, concrete and metal surfaces. And, once in your water softener, it prevents rust stains from reoccurring.

Find Rust-Raze at your local water softener dealer, hardware or farm store. And ask about Morton® Super Pellens®, recharging pellets with a built in rust remover, and Pellex®, a rust remover for water softeners that use rock or solar salt.

At surprise gala

Chamber President Bud Brown, wife, feted on 25th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown of 45100 Hull Road, Belleville, owners of Bud's T.V. in Belleville, had an invitation to go out to dinner in Toledo Saturday night, September 9, from their 'gal Friday', Pat Birbeck. Taking the southern route, via Sumpter Road, the couple suddenly found themselves at the P.N.A. Hall, where some 200 friends and business acquaintances awaited their arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Ward, 538 Liberty St., Belleville, a girl, Sept. 4, 5 lbs. - 6 oz.

The surprise party, planned by Mrs. Birbeck, marked the Brown's September 11 silver wedding anniversary. The reception, complete with cocktails, dinner and dancing, was marked by a champagne toast to the couple who drank from sterling silver engraved goblets, a gift from the hostess.

FOR THE OCCASION, Jeannette was presented with a corsage of white roses with silver accents which she pinned to her burnt orange and gold formal. "Bud", who is currently president of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Belleville Rotary Club, has been in the television repair and sales business for the past 15 years.

The hostess, who had a five-tiered wedding cake made for the celebration, also used a silver money tree as part of the decor. Assisting with the couple's many beautiful gifts were Jeannette's niece and husband, Peggy and Larry Orr of Wayne. Many local friends and businessmen also gave a hand to the proceedings with special help from Mrs. William Burhop, Floyd Griffith, Steve Kuchta, and the Jerry, Jim, John, and Ron Mason families. Guests arrived at the party from Plymouth, Westland, Ypsilanti, Redford, Melvindale, Detroit, Ann Arbor, and Belleville.

Pork's come a long way

Today's pork chop is not the same as the pork chop 30 years ago. Hogs go to market at a considerably younger age, the fat has been decreased and the lean meat increased. Comprehensive studies of the nutrient content of typical cuts of cooked pork have shown an average of 22 per cent more protein, 57 per cent less fat and 35 per cent fewer calories in pork than food composition tables and indicated in 1940.

Meaty tidbits score points

For a pre-game warm-up winner, serve the gang something to give them energy to cheer. Wrap half slices of bacon around cocktail frankfurters or small smoked sausage links and halves of water chestnuts. Fasten with small wooden picks. Prepare an ample number of these meaty tidbits and store in refrigerator to satisfy the crowd. When ready to serve, place on a rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 minutes or until bacon is crisp. Serve hot. Repeat as required to satisfy stimulated appetites.

MRS. JAMES L. DOUGLAS

Pat Baum weds

Greek Church is nuptial site

In a September 9 ceremony at St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church in Ann Arbor, Patricia Rae Baum became the bride of James L. Douglas. Presiding at the nuptial rite were Father Athanasios Aneste, assisted by Father Seraphim of Germany, Father Cyril of Casablanca, Morrocco, and Father Karambelas of Marquette, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Baum of Belleville and the senior James L. Douglasses of Ann Arbor are parents of the young couple who were feted by some 375 guests at their reception at Weber's Inn, Ann Arbor.

Following a honeymoon in Europe, the newlyweds will take up residence in Saline.

MRS. JEAN MORRIS of Belleville was her sister's matron of honor and Theodore Chapekis of Ann Arbor, uncle of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Helena Koski of Helsinki, Finland; Mrs. Brenda Cerne of Westland; Kim Morris, niece of the bride from Belleville; and junior attendant, Maria Berg, the bridegroom's cousin from Chicago. Flowergirls were Andrea Berg of Chicago and Kathy Chapekis of Ann Arbor. Ushers included Kerry Morris of Belleville; Evan Douglas, brother of the bridegroom; Frank Pesta of Taylor; and junior usher, George Douglas, another of the bridegroom's brothers.

Honorary ushers were George Chapekis and John Manolakis of Ann Arbor. Nicholas Chapekis, Jr. of Ann Arbor served as crown bearer while Peter Colovas carried out the role of ringbearer.

THE BRIDE chose for her wedding day a floor-length creation of silk organza and lace, the lace forming a deep V on the fitted bodice which was accented with little self buttons. Her mantilla veil was banded in matching lace.

Out of state guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Berk and Mr. and Mrs. George Sedares of Chicago, Illinois; the Fred Chapekises of Morton Grove, Illinois; Mrs. Martha Beachy of Grantsville, Maryland; Miss Marian Renton, Miss Frances Otterbacher and the Andrew Kirkpatrick's, all of Springfield, Missouri; and Miss Margaret Baum of Casa Grande, Arizona.

The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Angelo Lafkas arrived from Negaunee with Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Chapekis coming from Escanaba and the Robert Baums from Toledo, Ohio. Those from Marquette included Mrs. Ted Graphos, Mrs. Jim Argeropoulos, Mrs. Harry Pedakis, Mrs. Harry Petros, Mrs. Bertha Merkle. Others were from Saline, Detroit, Wyandotte, Wayne, Birmingham, Ann Arbor, St. Clair Shores, Redford, Warren, Lincoln Park, Dearborn, and Belleville.

Home Arts Club opens new season

The Home Arts Club opened its current club year September 11 at North Junior High School. President Dorothy Florian presided at a short business meeting and welcomed members and a guest, Beverly Eichold. Program chairman, Beverly Sparrow, outlined plans for the year and introduced the evening's speaker, Sue Smith of Ann Arbor. Mrs. Smith explained and demonstrated the intricacies of tie-dyeing. She also displayed gift wrappings, place mats, pillow cases, and materials which she had dyed in this manner.

Refreshments were served by Jackie Ryder, Judy Mendell, Eunice Kause, Kathy Miller, Janet Patterson and Mary Kosin.

October 9, the club will hold its annual smorgasbord, concentrating on dishes of German origin, and displaying artifacts from Germany.

Belleville Chapter 1135: Our first fish fry was a complete success. It was nice to see everyone enjoying themselves and we hope to see you every Friday night at 5 P.M.

Publicity chapter night Sept. 11 was a complete success also. Speaker for the evening was Elise Perry who gave a short talk on publicity and how it is put in print. Also we had four new co-workers brought in our defending circle: Margaret Merritt, whose husband is Harold Merritt of Chapter 934, sponsored by Helen Jacobs; Suzanne Chevalier, whose husband is Maurice Chevalier of 934; Marie Stehlin, whose husband is Robert Stehlin of 934, (both ladies sponsored by Frances Melich); and Thelma Terry, whose husband is Oliver Terry of Chapter 934, sponsored by Agnes Wood. Ladies, chapter 1135 would like to welcome you and wish you the best of luck in any one of the committees you choose to take on.

Just to remind you about our "Hillbilly Dinner" Sept. 23 from 5 to 8 p.m. The band for the night is "Wayne Kelly and His Country Men". All the proceeds go for the new lodge. Special Election Sept. 25 at 7:30 to 8 pm. for our new treasurer. Let's get there early and cast our votes before meeting starts.

Lecture-workshop to be held

A lecture-workshop series on Jill Renich's new book, 'To Have and To Hold', will begin Tuesday, Sept. 19, at the First Presbyterian Church (Corner of Annapolis and Venoy), Wayne. Classes will be from 9:30 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. and will meet the first and third Tuesdays of the month. Registration fee is $2 and a nursery is provided.

The lecturer will be the author herself, Jill Renich, who is well-known in Christian fellowships for her radio broadcasts of how to apply the teachings of Christ to the circumstances of daily living. She is President of Winning Women, Inc. and author of three other books - 'So You're a Teenage Girl', 'Preparing Children for Marriage', and 'How to Find Harmony in Marriage'. The book 'To Have and To Hold' is a detailed help in attaining happiness in marriage for women.

All women are invited to attend this lecture-workshop which is sponsored by the Belleville Mother's Club.

Garden reception follows ceremony

A 10-day honeymoon in Florida followed the August 26 wedding of Peggy Lou Harrold of 38150 Walnut Drive, Romulus, and David John Pratt of 8835 Whitehorn, Romulus. The couple is now at home on Holmes Road in Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrold of 1006 Howard, Billings, Montana are parents of the bride who carried yellow and white carnations and white roses as she approached the altar with her father. Her full-length gown was fashioned with a high-rise waistline traced with velvet. The lace bib-effect on the bodice was banded with ruffles as were the long bishop sleeves.

A Juliet cap of matching lace secured her illusion veil which was cut in fingertip length.

ST. PAUL'S Lutheran Church in New Boston was the setting for the three o'clock ceremony read by the Rev. Herbert Fehner before some 80 friends and relatives.

Attending the couple were Nancy Jo Harrold of Belleville, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Steven Pollard of Romulus, the bridegroom's best friend.

Sherri Cullen of Ypsilanti, as bridesmaid, wore a frock which matched that worn by the honor attendant in yellow with a lace bodice, short puffed sleeves, and a long skirt ruffled at the hemline. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Pratt of 8835

Whitehorn, Romulus, asked Michael Cullen of Ypsilanti to serve as usher.

A white fitted polyester dress banded in navy at the waist was worn by the bride's mother, Mrs. Harrold, while the bridegroom's mother appeared in beige polyester with a matching lace jacket. The bridegroom's parents entertained at the reception which followed under a canopy in their garden. Some 102 guests attended.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from Romulus High School. She is employed at Master Craft of Belleville and he is with W.T. Rutlia Painters while attending an apprentice school for his trade.

Walls host birth day open house

On Sunday, September 10, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wall of E. Huron River Dr. entertained at an open house in honor of their cousin, Mrs. George (Maude) Clement of Wayne, who was celebrating her 90th birthday.

Present for the occasion were 25 relatives from Whitmore Lake, Royal Oak, Dearborn, Wayne, Milan, and Belleville.

Mrs. Harry Stuck of Wayne and Miss Maxine Malion of Royal Oak assisted at the tea table.

Bride wears heirloom cameo at nuptial rite

The newlywed James Lambert Bakers are making their home in East Lansing since their marriage September 9 at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Westland. The bridegroom, who works as an electrician, is currently in his senior year at Michigan State University where he is majoring in packaging. His wife is teaching first grade in Lansing.

Linda Elaine Berlin became Mrs. Baker in a seven o'clock ceremony presided over by the Rev. Walter L. Henning. For the occasion, the altar was appointed with yellow snapdragons and white daisy pomps as well as a special candelabra made by the bridegroom's grandfather, Lambert Mida of Westland. Stanford Walling of Westland served as soloist for the double ring rite.

PARENTS OF THE young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Berlin of 9620 Woodland Court, Ypsilanti, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker of 139 Clarence Street, Belleville.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Linda appeared in a gown of imported Scranton lace fashioned in toe-touching length with a chapel train. The camisole bodice featured a crown collar and full bishop sleeves, the neckline being enhanced with a 100-year-old cameo pin.

A Camelot cap of Nottingham lace secured her mid-back silk illusion veil and she carried cascading white and yellow roses interspersed with ivy streamers.

The bridal coterie included Mrs. Jerry Townsley, sister of the bride from Ypsilanti as matron of honor; Mrs. Frank Reaume and Mrs. Darry Patterson of Ypsilanti and Linda McKee of Romulus as bridesmaids.

IDENTICALLY ATTIREd, they wore dirndl-skirted frocks styled along the same lines as the bridal gown with crown collars and full sleeves. The mint green jeweled crepe creations were frosted at the sleeves and yokes with white Nottingham lace. Their headgear was comprised of matching crepe bows and their bouquets contained white miniature carnations and yellow daisy pomps and ivy streamers.

Dressed in a junior version of the senior attendants' frocks was the seven-year old flowergirl, Deann Marie Townsley, niece of the bride. Ringbearer was Daniel Mark Townsley, six, her nephew.

The bridegroom asked his brother, Robert G. Baker, Jr. of Saginaw to be best man. Groomsmen were John Magda of Willis, Dick Zimmer of Belleville and Leonard Charette of Ann Arbor.

Local 735 UAW Hall was reserved for the reception which followed. The 300 guests were greeted by Mrs. Berlin in a floor-length aqua chiffon crepe gown accented with white lace. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Baker, donned an apricot French crepe formal with pearl trim. Both were presented with corsages of yellow and white roses.

Assisting at the party were Mrs. Dean Berlin, sister-in-law of the bride, who registered the guests; and Mrs. Robert Baker, Jr., sister-in-law of the bridegroom, who cut the wedding cake with assistance from Linda Sohlich of Ypsilanti.

The rehearsal dinner at Seil's Restaurant in Westland was hosted by the bridegroom's parents with 27 guests attending.

English cousin visits Belleville

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
OX 9-4021

A guest from Cornwall, England, Mrs. Mary Barrett, arrived on Tuesday, September 5, and is spending some time with her cousin, Mrs. Emma Bawden, of E. Huron River Dr., and other relatives.

Rev. Roger Arnett has been a patient at Beyer Hospital, Ypsilanti, for the past couple of weeks.

On Sunday of last week Mr. and Mrs. George Robson of Tyler Rd. motored to Milan, Ohio, where they visited the birth place of Thomas A. Edison and then on to Mansfield where they toured the lovely flower gardens.

A recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Hopson of Belleville Rd. has been their brother-in-law, Mr. B. Y. Martin, from Great Falls, Virginia.

Mrs. Dorothy DeWese of Bowling Green, Ohio, spent several days last week at the home of her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boldt, of Roland St.

Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson of Belleville spent last week-end at Baldwin.

A citrus fruit called a tangelo is a hybrid between the tangerine and grapefruit. The tangelo looks like an orange and peels easily.

Graveside services were held at Pleasant View Cemetery on Denton Rd. on Wednesday, September 13, for David E. Pappas, a one-time Elwell Rd. resident. He passed away suddenly September 11, at the age of 54.

Services were held at the Nixon-Weise Funeral Home in Lincoln Park. He is survived by three sons, one daughter, and his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Majors.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lumetta left last Friday for their home at Naples, Florida, after having spent the past two weeks visiting relatives and friends in Belleville and other communities.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty St. were callers on Sunday of last week on a friend, Mrs. Helen Cohen, at Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Mann of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell St. spent last week Sunday visiting at Harsen's Island and Algonac.

Mrs. Nina Todd of Liberty St. has been a patient at Beyer Hospital, Ypsilanti, for the past several days, having suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Leon Boldt of Roland St. and house guest, Mrs. Dorothy DeWese of Bowling Green, Ohio, were luncheon guests last Thursday of the latter's sister, Mrs. Angeline Goldsmith, of Lincoln Park.

Arbogast-Gough rites

Belleville grad wed in Applegate church

Washington Assembly of God Church in Applegate, Michigan was the setting August 5 for the double ring ceremony which united Linda Ruth Gough and Gregory Mark Arbogast in holy matrimony. The two o'clock nuptials were read by the Rev. Hubert Phipps before some 250 assembled guests.

Baskets of gladiolas and chrysanthemums graced the altar as the bride approached on the arm of her father. For her wedding day she donned an imported silk cotton organza creation designed with Val lace on the Queen Anne collar, ruffled cuffs and hemline.

Her imported French illusion mantilla veil drifted to chapel length and was also trimmed with Val lace. A bouquet of multi-colored garden blooms, strawflowers, baby's breath, and status completed her ensemble.

bouquets matched that carried by the bride.

BEST MAN was David Oczepok of Saginaw. Others on the esquire side were Brad Arbogast of Forest Park, Illinois, brother of the bridegroom; and Richard, James and Robert Gough, brothers of the bride from Applegate.

Mrs. Gough chose for her daughter's wedding an aqua polyester crepe frock with lace trim. Her corsage was comprised of multi-colored blooms and strawflowers. The bridegroom's mother donned a maize polyester crepe dress with lace accents and a corsage of yellow flowers and strawflowers.

Approximately 250 guests attended the buffet dinner reception which followed at the Applegate Community Hall after which the newlyweds departed for their honeymoon in the Upper Peninsula.

The new Mrs. Arbogast graduated from Carsonville High School and Central Michigan University where she earned her B.S. degree in education. Her husband, an alumnus of Belleville High School, holds a B.S. degree in business administration from C.M.U. and now works at the Lewiston State Bank in Lewiston where the couple now reside.

Mrs. Katherine Arbogast played hostess at the rehearsal dinner held at the Applegate Community Hall.

MR. AND MRS. GREGORY M. ARBOGAST

MUSIC WAS provided by Crystal Hacker at the organ and Beth Aspinall, the soloist.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. John V. Gough of Applegate, and Mrs. Katharine Arbogast of 4902 Oakville - Waltz Road, Carleton, and the late Wendell Arbogast.

Frocks of maize dotted swiss over taffeta were worn by the quartet of bridal attendants: Christi Henderson of Flint, the honor maid; Mrs. Bradley Arbogast of Forest Park, Illinois, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mrs. David Oczepok of Saginaw; and Rosanne Zalupski of Lincoln Park.

Fashioned in the A-line mode, the skirts were ruffled at the hemline and accented with Venice lace bodices, bishop sleeves and Queen Anne necklines. Their

Mrs. Spring is hostess at PM meet

The September meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, O.E.S., was held at the Liberty St. home of Past Matron Katherine Spring on Thursday, the 7th.

Present for the 12:30 luncheon were 17 members and one guest, the Worthy Matron, Rose Ann Welt.

The president, Pauline Quinley, conducted a short business meeting with the chaplain, Ada Sager, having the devotions.

The afternoon was spent socially with each person giving an account of their summer vacations.

HOME ON LEAVE

ARRIVING HOME recently from his air base near Las Vegas, Nevada, was Airman Alphonse Szuma, who is spending a 40-day leave in Michigan prior to his departure October 3 for Milan, Italy.

The son of the senior Szumas of Martinsville Road, Al spent part of his leave with his uncles and aunts, Walt and Kitty Chudzinski at Houghton Lake and Al and Shirley Chudzinski at Gaylord. This past week-end his parents motored Northward to bring him home.

COLORADO TRIP ENDS

THE STRAUBS — Albert and Shirley and daughter, Dawn — left Metro Airport August 19 and jetted to Denver, Colorado where they were met by Mark and Elsie Hollis, friends of some 30 years standing.

As they drove south out of the capitol, they viewed two points of interest — the United States Air Force Academy at the foot of the Rockies and the Will Rogers Shrine of the Sun located on Cheyenne Mountain.

They toured the Garden of the Gods where they saw the world-famous Balanced Rock and the huge red sandstone formations. While camping near Chuchara in the San Isabel National Forest on the Chucharas River, they toured Chucharas Pass and the Apishapa Drive seeing the scenic Spanish Peaks and their dikes.

Leaving there via Stonewall Gap, they motored to Lamar, a city located in southeastern Colorado in the Arkansas Valley, which is noted for its cattle. There they spent the remainder of their vacation at the Hollis residence and were introduced to their many friends.

Welcoming them when they landed back on home territory was Tom Meyer and at the Straub home, they were greeted by their children and grandchildren.

Market mystery

Prefrozen fresh meat is as carefully protected against defrosting from point of freezing to time of purchase as other frozen foods such as fruit juice concentrates and "TV" dinners. Yet most homemakers have exhibited a reluctance to purchase prefrozen fresh meat although they will purchase the other products with complete confidence. It's a market mystery which continues to puzzle food merchandisers, particularly since an estimated 87 per cent of homemakers often buy meat and freeze it at home under far less professional conditions.

HERE 'N THERE

A RECENT RESIDENT of Denton Road, Dorothy Poet, is a patient at St. Mary's Hospital, Room 557, in Saginaw. She is convalescing from recent back surgery before returning to her new home at St. Helen.

AILEEN ALLYN played hostess to her newly-formed bridge group Thursday evening with guests coming from Plymouth, Wayne and Livonia. The get-together also marked the birthday of one of the members, Gerry Faucett, who was presented with a gift from the group.

Youth center plans to get initial OK

Plans to combat juvenile delinquency through neighborhood youth centers and central coordination of more than 200 youth programs in Wayne County have received preliminary approval by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Six to eight multi-agency youth centers are planned under the Juvenile Facilities Network (JFN) which will be financed by $3.1 million in local, state and federal funds.

Plans for the network were unveiled before the county commissioners, meeting as the Ways and Means Committee last Thursday. The concept and the general locations of the first two youth centers were approved, with final action planned at a formal board meeting tomorrow.

Target date for the opening of two centers — one in Inkster and one in the Gratiot-Harper area on Detroit's east side — is Dec. 15.

A youth center opened early this year by the State Office of Youth Services at Dexter and Elmhurst in Detroit is expected to become part of the network.

The plan was developed, and the financing assembled, under the auspices of the Board of Commissioners.

Central coordination will be provided by an advisory executive board drawn from major youth-serving agencies and a general assembly representative of all agencies and the citizenry. The executive board will be appointed by, and report to, the Board of Commissioners.

Each neighborhood youth center will have a citizens advisory committee which will advise the executive board concerning what services are needed at each center.

A typical center might house a gymnasium and a game room, and have supervised recreation programs plus employment and vocational counseling and training by state and school agencies, juvenile court caseworkers, family counseling and legal aid.

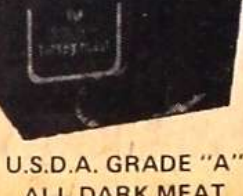

County Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick described

the program as "unique in the nation" and called it "the most important development in the history of efforts to reduce delinquency in Wayne County."
"There are more than 200 youth-serving agencies in Wayne County," FitzPatrick added, "and although they are doing good work individually, the needs of youth are not being met because of a lack of coordination."
A site selection committee appointed by the Board of Commissioners recommended that the first Detroit center be located in the service area of the Northeastern YMCA, 10100 Harper. A specific area for the Inkster center was not recommended.

The committee also designated four other areas as "critical zones" for consideration as center locations. These are:
—The Warren-McGraw-Wyoming-Grand River triangle in west side Detroit.
—The River Rouge area "in closest proximity to Melvindale and Ecorse."
—The State Fair-Dequindre-Six Mile area of Detroit north of Highland Park.
—The Meyers Road-Curtis area in northwest Detroit.
The program will be financed by $1.2 million in state recreation bond funds, plus grants received under the federal Omnibus Crime Control Act and from the U.S. Departments of Health, Education and Welfare and Housing and Urban Development (HUD). These include a $90,000 HUD grant to the City of Inkster.

Local matching funds for the grants will be in the form of services by city and county agencies.
The Juvenile Facilities Network will have a small central staff.
The site selection committee based its recommendations on socio-economic needs, adequacy of recreational services, population of children and youth, interest expressed by community groups and availability of existing structures to house the youth centers.
Each center is expected to serve 300 to 500 juveniles and their families.

Mrs. Cullen cited by Beyer administrator

Mrs. Patricia Cullen, Van Buren Township trustee, has been cited by the administrator of Beyer Memorial Hospital, Ypsilanti.

Beyer Hospital is a member of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) and Mrs. Cullen is on the board of directors of the PCHA.

Mrs. Cullen spent two days at the hospital during the recent survey by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

In his letter to Mrs. Cullen, Alan R. Case, administrator at Beyer said in part:

"I know it's very difficult for you to break away from your home to spend the two days with the hospital that you did. For that time and for your interest in the quality of care at Beyer, you have my thanks. 'I was pleased, as were the surveyors from the Joint Commission, that a member of the board of directors would take the interest to spend as much time at the hospital as you did. All of us at Beyer, from the medical staff to the department heads, thank you for your time and interest."

Case told Mrs. Cullen he felt confident of the outcome of the survey and was glad she could play a part in the survey.

Police-community group may be in operation soon

The Romulus Community Relations Commission submitted its quarterly report to the Romulus City Council Thursday night.

In making her report, Commission Chairman Mrs. Susanne Cooke said:

"The primary concern of the community relations commission for the past few months has been the organizing and the development of a police community relations team in the City of Romulus.

"A committee from the community relations commission has been working closely with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department on the drafting of the by-laws for the police community relations team. It is the hope and desire of the commission to have the team functioning as a unit by October.

"The commission has been pleased by the response and willingness to serve on the team by the citizens of Romulus. We are now attempting to get the youths of our city involved in the work of the team.

"As in the past few months, the community relations commission has been in close contact with the banks in the City of Romulus to make certain they follow through on their promise to hire blacks in their establishments.

"The commission has also been occupied in compiling a brief history of the various ethnic groups throughout Romulus, and we are now attempting to gain the cooperation of other organizations in our drive to gather information.

"It is the desire of the Romulus Community Relations Commission to attempt to bring together the citizens of Romulus in fostering a greater understanding of our community and bring about mutual respect."

Split in stock to be okayed

The Romulus City Council has approved a request for the issuance by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (MLCC) of a special designated merchant (SDM) license to Charles Irvine, operator of a Dairy Queen at 30881 Ecorse Rd., Romulus.

A SDM license permits the sale of beer and wine for off-premise consumption.

Southeastern Michigan Holding Co., the parent company of Security Bank and Trust of Southgate, announced the board of directors approved a one-for-one stock dividend at its meeting on Sept. 5.

The stock dividend will be issued Oct. 2 to shareholders of record as of Sept. 15.

The 100 per cent stock dividend will increase the number of shares outstanding from 629,944 to 1,259,888.

The holding company also reported that the board adopted a policy of increasing 1972 dividends the maximum amount allowed under Phase II of the federal government's Wage-Price Control Program.

To implement this policy, the board declared a dividend of 16.2 cents per share payable Oct. 2 to shareholders of record as of Sept. 15. A similar dividend is contemplated for the fourth quarter.

Auction slated Saturday

The United Home Owners Association of Sumpter Township will sponsor an Old-Fashioned Country Auction beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday at the township fire hall, located at Sumpter and Willis roads.

The association is looking for donations of objects no larger than a car. It will accept anything from a dish to a farm tractor.

Persons who wish to donate can call one of the following telephone numbers: 753-4309, 753-9062, 461-1892 or 461-1063.

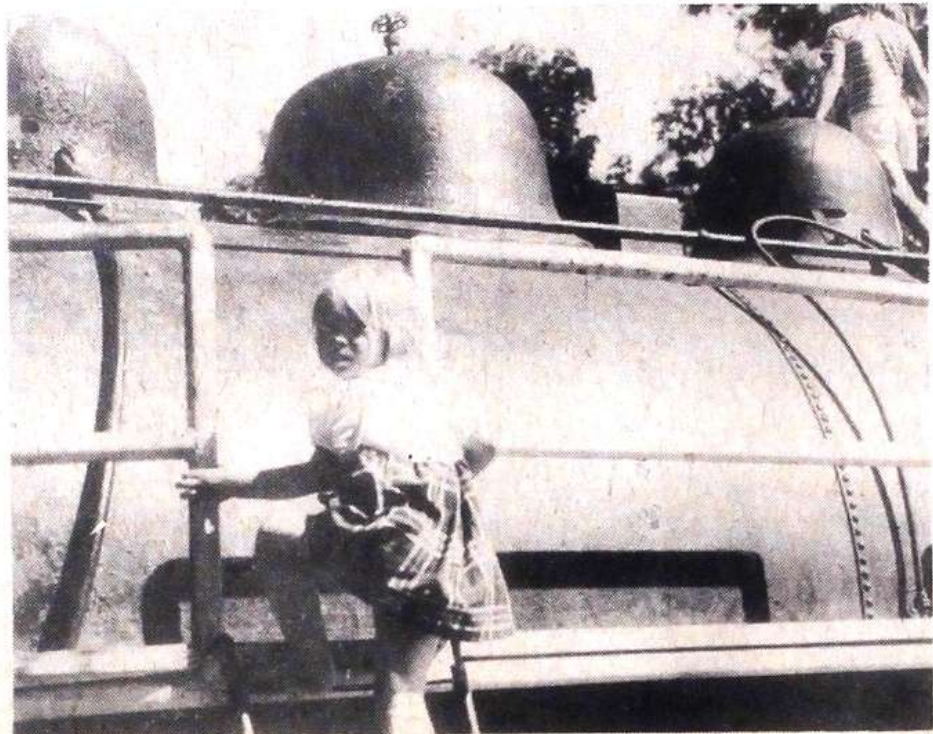

Proceeds from the auction will go into the building fund of the homeowners association.

OPEN HOUSE FEATURE—The recent open house held at the Edison Pointe Park, located on the shore of Belleville Lake, attracted more than 2,280 persons. The Belleville Park and Lake Committee made available to the residents of Belleville and Van Buren Township who attended the affair boat rides on the lake and trailer rides through the park and facilities. The Detroit Edison Co. has offered the park and the lake to the township as a free gift. The offer's acceptance or rejection will be up to the voters in the November general election.

PARK LOCOMOTIVE—One of the many recreational features at Edison Pointe Park on the north shore of Belleville Lake is the park's small locomotive used to make tours around the 101-acre park. An open house was recently held to permit area residents to see what recreational facilities are available at the park.

Open house at Edison Park termed success by committee

FREE BOAT RIDES—Among some of the featured highlights at the open house Sept. 10 were free boat rides offered visitors. The park has been offered to Van Buren Township by the Edison Co. as a free gift. The Belleville Park and Lake Committee arranged for the open house.

FOR THE KIDS—A limited number of Mini-Trikes were distributed free to children who attended the recent open house at Edison Pointe Park. A workman unloads some of the Mini-Trikes at the 101-acre recreational site, which is owned by the Detroit Edison Co. The open house affair was a success, said committee members.

Voter week proclaimed by governor

This week has been proclaimed League of Women Voters Week by Gov. William G. Milliken.

In conjunction with the observance, the Ypsilanti Area chapter will hold its opening meeting of the 1972-73 year tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George Sanzi, 1304 Kingwood.

Mrs. Margaret Austin will lead a discussion entitled "Distribution of Monies for Education." Anyone of voting age is invited to attend.

Proposed sewer rate increase is postponed

Pending further study, a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has postponed action on a proposal to increase charges for treatment and disposal of wastewater in six downriver communities.

Meeting as a public board of review on rates last Thursday, the Board's Public Works Committee requested more information before deciding on a rate increase recommended by the County Road Commission.

During the past 30 years the Road Commission, as agent for Wayne County, has operated wastewater treatment plants at Flat Rock, Rockwood and Trenton as part of the county's sewage disposal and water supply system.

The Road Commission has proposed a rate increase from $80 per million gallons to $230 per million gallons of water consumption at these three plants.

The proposed new rates were scheduled to become effective Oct. 1.

An increase at these plants would affect the communities of Gibraltar, Woodhaven, Brownstown, Rockwood (including South Rockwood), Flat Rock and Huron Township (including New Boston).

If enacted as proposed, the increase would cost another 30 cents per person per month, or about $1.20 per month additional for a family of four, to water bills in the eight communities.

These figures are based on estimates that each member of a family uses 1,000 gallons of water per month.

Road Commission spokesmen say the three plants have been operating as a public utility and have incurred financial loss over the past 10 years.

The increase is needed, said the Road Commission officials, to offset escalating labor and materials costs.

Patrol branch okayed

Construction of a new airport branch of the Wayne County Sheriff Department's Road Patrol Division is to get under way this week.

A building permit authorizing construction of the patrol's new quarters was issued Thursday by the Romulus Building Department, following construction plan approval by the department's building inspectors.

The new law enforcement facility will be built on the northbound Rogell Drive and East Service Road at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport. It will consist of a one-story structure with a 36-foot frontage and will be 60 feet from the front of the building to the back. Construction cost was estimated at $105,000.

The building permit was issued to Roth, Wadkins & Wise, Inc. of Dearborn, contractors.

MEA ratifies contract

LANSING — The Professional Staff Association (PSA) of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) has ratified a new two-year contract by an overwhelming majority.

PSA president Roger Stephenson said Monday the agreement included a 4.5 per cent salary increase the first year and a 5.1 per cent hike the second year.

The contract will have to be approved by the MEA board of directors Friday.

The PSA has ended its 10 days of picketing and has resumed negotiations for teachers still involved in contract disputes around the state.

What a climate!

Jamaica's mean temperature in winter is 78 degrees and in summer the thermometer seldom rises higher than 90 degrees, reports the Jamaica Tourist Board.

plus expenses of recent construction needed to meet requirements of the Michigan Water Resources Commission and the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

In postponing action on the proposal, the Public Works Committee asked for a more detailed report in support of the requested increase. The report is to include materials and administrative costs for each plant, and will be analyzed by members of the committee and officials of the affected communities before further action is taken.

When sitting as a public board of review on rates, decisions of the Public Works Committee are final and do not require approval of the full Board of Commissioners.

Members of the Public Works Committee are: Thomas P. O'Rourke, Detroit, (D-Dist. 14), chairman; John Lesinski, Dearborn, (D-Dist. 20), vice chairman; James DeSana, Wyandotte, (D-Dist. 23); Huey A. Ferguson, Detroit, (D-Dist. 5); James R. McCartney, Westland, (D-Dist. 25), and Michael J. Novak, Detroit, (D-Dist. 1).

DIRECTS PROGRAM — Ray Davis of Belleville is the manager of a new program for the cleaning and maintenance of the Belvil Community Hospital, a 70-bed medical facility at 105 Main St., Belleville.

Drag racers display cars for North kids

Two area drag racers recently visited the shop classes at the North Junior High School, Belleville.

The drag racers, who brought along their racing cars, were Gary Bray and Ronald Miller, both of the Belleville area. They displayed their cars to the students in the industrial arts classes.

Bray, 30, has been active in drag racing for several years. He has recently purchased a new Camaro "funny car." It is called "funny car" because of the extensive modifications. The frame is constructed of a special steel tubing and the car's body is all fiberglass. The total weight of the car is 1,800 pounds, including its supercharged 1,500 horsepower engine.

Its ramcharger engine burns nitro methane fuel and powers the car through the standard quarter mile in just seven seconds at more than 200 miles an hour.

Bray plans to take his car west this winter and tour many of the different drag strips.

Miller also is a drag racer and a personal friend of Bray. He races a 1963 Plymouth which he completely reconstructed and fitted with a 440 cubic inch Plymouth gasoline engine which puts out more than 600 horsepower.

The car weighs the required 3,200 pounds for the class the car was built to compete in.

Mt. Pleasant strives for communication

In order to establish a better communication link with the Mt. Pleasant Elementary School community, which encompasses the upper grade students from the Cory and Harrison Elementary Schools, School Principal Harold Connon has announced there will be a weekly article submitted to the Romulus Roman.

Local girl in honors plan

Miss Cinda D. Ferrier of 43415 Expressway, Belleville, has enrolled in the Ball State University honors program for the 1972-73 college year. Miss Ferrier, a member of the freshman class, will major in architecture. She is a Belleville High School graduate.

Ball State University is located at Muncie, Ind.

Each teacher, Connon announced, will submit at least one article relating to her grade's activities or the building as a whole.

The school principal also announced the return of Mrs. Jane Rodgers to the Mt. Pleasant faculty after an absence of two years. Mrs. Rodgers will teach fifth grade.

Mt. Pleasant has three new faculty members this year — Mrs. Kathy House, who is taking a new position at Mt. Pleasant as a helping teacher, Mrs. Rosemary Foster, who is taking over Mrs. Karen Price's third grade class while Mrs. Price is on maternity leave, and Mrs. Charlotte Price, a former teacher at Mt. Pleasant who is also going to teach fifth grade. Mrs. Jessie Simmons has been transferred from the Harrison Elementary School to Mt. Pleasant.

Connon reported the student enrollment at Mt. Pleasant is 579 with nearly half of the enrollment (boys and girls) fifth and sixth graders.

The school's walls have been freshly painted and a new fence installed along the east boundary of the playground.

Conference will be held

The fourth annual conference of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce's Government and Economic Education Committee (formerly public affairs committee) will be held tomorrow and Friday at Weber's Inn, Ann Arbor.

Among the program's participants will be the four political writers of the Detroit News, Detroit Free Press, Booth Newspapers and Donald Hoenshell of Panax Corp., owner of the Enterprise-Roman.

NEW LIBRARY STAFF — Mothers from the Rawsonville Road Elementary School are now operating a renovated library room at the school. They are (from left) Mrs. Muriel Frettenborough, Mrs. Jane Fuller, Mrs. Sharon Iuman, Mrs. Phyllis McClelland and

Mrs. Sandy Askew. The May book drive was a successful campaign, the workers said, and the school's Parent-Teacher Action Group (PTAG) donated $200 for new books and records.

Chamber liaison reps appointed

The board of directors of the Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce have appointed attorney Felix F. Rogalle and Mrs. Dolores Ristow as liaison representatives to the Romulus City Hall.

They will represent the Chamber of Commerce at all future city council meetings. Both are members of the chamber's board of directors.

Their appointments followed the resignation of Barney J. McGrane, of 36511 Romulus St., Romulus. Rogalle has office at 36510 Goddard Rd., while Mrs. Ristow operates Dolores'

Resale Shop, S. Wayne Road, Romulus.

McGrane, vice president of the Wyandotte Welding Supply Co., served the chamber as liaison man for a short period and then resigned due to other business activities.

The chamber invites all its members to check with the chamber office (941-2262) whenever they feel the chamber can be of some help to them.

The board of directors meets on the second Monday of each month with special meetings called immediately when found necessary. Mrs. Dolores Ristow reported.

Township reappoints 2 to plan commission

Two reappointments to the Van Buren Township Planning Commission have been approved by the township board.

Named to new three-year terms were Mrs. Jean Morris, 17050 Martinsville Rd., Belleville, and Jerry Maton, 12175 Beckley Rd., Belleville. Maton also is a member of the township board and will represent the board on the commission.

Other members of the planning commission are:

Charles E. Walls, 11571 Juniper Dr., Belleville, chairman; Mrs. Betty Jarrett, 44757 Lake Crest Dr., Belleville; Bernard R. Boyd, 13033 Edgedale St., Belleville; Leo Turney, 15995 Elwell Rd., Belleville; and Donald Carlson, 45637 Harmony Lane, Belleville.

The planning commission meets on the first Wednesday of every month at the township hall, 45425 Tyler Rd. The meeting starts at 8 p.m.

Radio station tries harder

TORONTO — The Canadian Radio-Television Commission's Canadian content regulation, which stipulates that AM radio stations must devote a minimum of 30 per cent of air time to Canadian talent, has resulted in a rush to produce a better-quality product.

In 1970 there was one 16-track studio in the country. Now there are five 16-track studios and one 24-track studio in Toronto. Montreal has a 32-track studio. Other facilities are springing up from Halifax to Vancouver.

Most recording is done in Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver.

Police issue report

The Van Buren Township Police Department's personnel worked 920½ hours on road duty and patrol during the month of August, Police Chief John R. Willet Sr. reported to the township board.

The duty hours included more than 460 hours at the recent Wayne County 4-H Fair at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds near Belleville, and 54 hours on special duty at Flag's Restaurant, Belleville Road and I-94 Expressway.

Chief Willet also reported the resignation of Kurt Domic, a member of the police department for the last four years. Domic is moving out of the township.

The total department payroll for August amounted to $3,689.87. The 4-H Fairground Association paid $1,103 of the month's total payroll, Willet reported.

Just for summer

Belleville grad turns kibbutznik

Kathi Davis spent the summer as a kibbutznik.

A senior at Michigan State University and a Belleville High product, Miss Davis spent the summer months in Israel on a kibbutz, a collective farm or settlement in Israel cooperatively owned and managed by the members and organized on a communal basis. A kibbutznik is a person connected with a kibbutz.

At the Kibbutz Hatzetim, west of Ber-Sheva in the Negev desert, Miss Davis started her day at 3:30 a.m. picking fruit, gardening, working in the kitchen and studying Hebrew for two hours.

What made her decide to participate in the kibbutz? "I had a desire to experience a different social structure, in this case, pure communism," she reported.

Miss Davis was given Israeli "foster parents" whose home she was allowed to visit any time. She was taken on a seven-day tour of the country which entailed climbing mountains, swimming in oases, the Dead Sea and the Sea of Galilee, visiting several archeological sites and touring the new border near Syria and Lebanon. They made a stop in each main city.

Two graduate from Eastern

Among the seniors recently receiving diplomas at Western Michigan University's summer commencement exercises were two Belleville area students.

The students are Edward D. Ketchum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon M. Ketchum of 45385 Harmony Lane, Belleville, and Esther Kinnison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Vanzee of 18100 Elwell Rd., Belleville.

Miss Davis found the kibbutz system to be a unique and very successful one. She feels the kibbutzniks are idealists who have proven it is possible for a society to function "from each according to his ability to each according to his need."

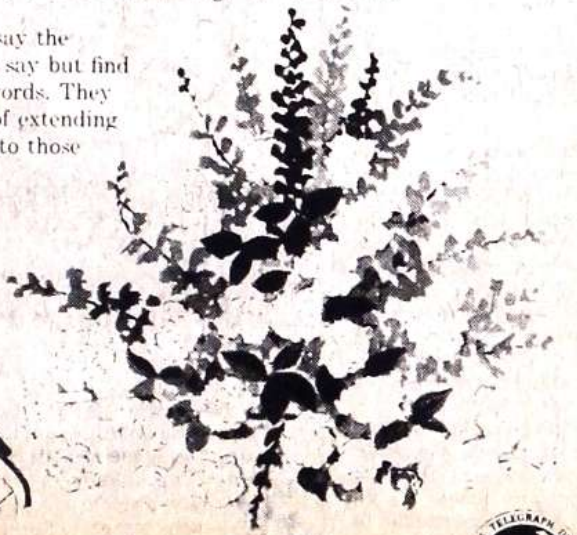

"This experience has also been an interesting one for me as a non-Jew, since it is the first time in my life I have been in the minority. It has made me very aware of some things about my culture which I have taken for granted or never really thought about."

Miss Davis is a senior majoring in the history of art at Justin Morrill College. A residential college at MSU, JMC offers a four year undergraduate program featuring innovative and experimental approaches to liberal education.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis of 1129 S. Harris, Ypsilanti, she is a 1969 graduate of Belleville High School.

THRIFTY-150...

Check on it...anything else could cost you MONEY!

No service charge when you maintain a minimum balance of $150. If you are presently using the checking account services of any other bank, chances are your minimum balance is higher than Thrifty-150 and that costs you money!

That's right, no other Downriver bank offers a personal checking account that can match the economy of Thrifty-150.

Thrifty-150 does not have a service charge as long as you maintain a minimum monthly balance of $150 or an average monthly balance of $400. Should you fall below the minimum monthly balance, a modest maintenance fee of 50 cents and a charge of 15 cents per check will be made.

Why settle for anything else?

Thrifty-150 has the lowest minimum balance in the Downriver area!

Check it out. You'll check with us!

IMPROVE YOUR HOME

Population problems are solved

Most homes today are overpopulated. There's never enough space to store all the "things" the family collects. After a few years, the big empty house you moved into is crammed from corner to cubbyhole with nowhere left to go.

That's when "space exploration" should be undertaken to unearth hidden storage areas or create new ones.

If entrance foyers, hallways and connecting corridors aren't large enough for even a medium-sized closet, settle for a small one. You'll be amazed at the number of items a shallow closet can hold. Another hall problem is that a passage is often too narrow to permit use of a regular closet door.

The answer to this problem is sliding or folding wood louver doors. The former requires no floor clearance at all, since the doors slide open and close on tracks in the floor and ceiling. The latter fold together accordion-style and require only minimal clearance.

Louver doors of ponderosa pine are readily available in stock sizes at local lumber dealers. Hardware can be easily installed by home handymen.

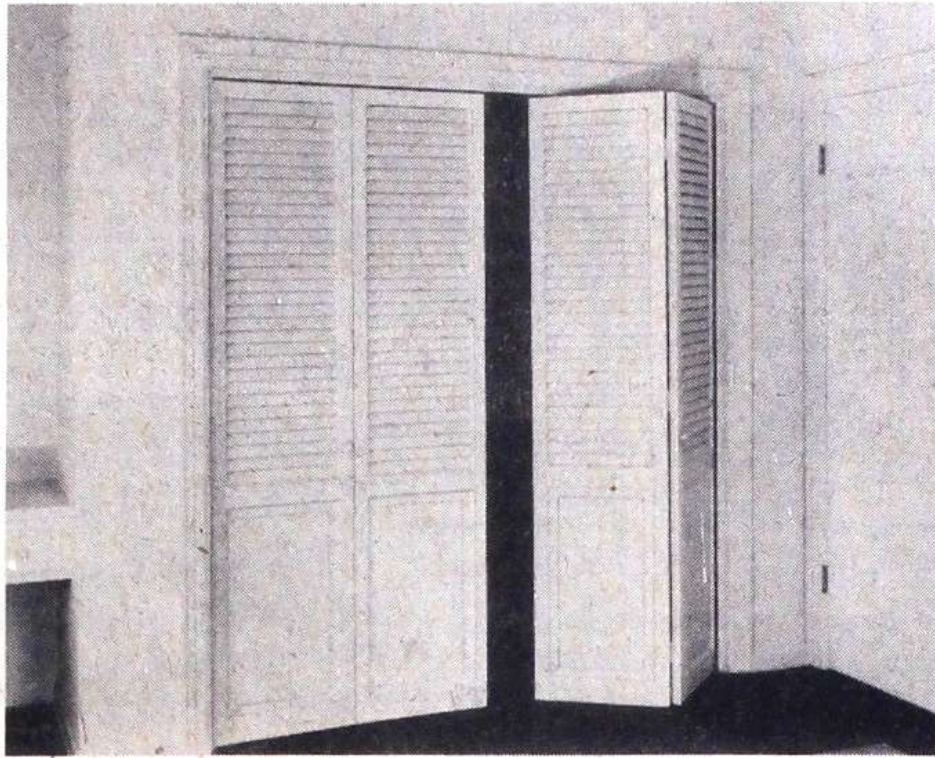

Shallow closets are also practical in bathrooms, dressing rooms, kitchens, pantries, laundry rooms, and any other area that's "tight" on storage space. Folding or sliding wood louver doors have the additional benefit of ventilation for closets of any size. The open slat design allows air to circulate freely, which eliminates both mustiness and the danger of mildew.

Wall units of floor to ceiling shelves in living rooms, bedrooms and dens are an increasingly popular space-creating device. They can be flanked with closets to provide greater work or storage area. "Shuttered" with wood louver doors, the unit can become a showpiece.

Ponderosa pine louver doors are obtainable in two handsome styles: fully-louvered, or with louvers in the top half and closed wood panels in the bottom. The doors can be painted, or stained to bring out the natural beauty of the grain.

When exploring for space, every extra inch you find counts. A keen eye for "hidden" treasures and imaginative use of "found" space can ease the strain on overpopulated closets.

OPEN SLAT DESIGN — Folding louver doors of ponderosa pine require little floor space. The open slat design keeps closets well ventilated and prevents mildew. The doors are available fully-louvered or with wood panel in bottom as shown. They come in stock sizes at local lumber and building supply dealers.

Experts design house

By VIVIAN BROWN
Viewers should be able to learn something from designer decorated rooms in a new 42-story cooperative house in New York City that is open to the public for a fee. Decorated by 17 well-known members of the American Institute of Interior Designers, it has structural ideas that should appeal to do-it-yourselfers and hundreds of decorating ideas that can be modified or expanded to one's own interior design perspective. The apartments are in a luxury bracket, prestigious residential area.

One contemporary sitting room is so exhilarating, it fairly sings. Designed by James P. Tillis, it resembles an abstract painting with its orange, white and black fabric swirling up upholstered lounges, sofas and chairs. Mirrors and a polished steel table increase the shimmer and bounce that is tamed a little by an Edward Fields rug in a geometrical pattern.

In the dining-entertainment room of the same apartment, Field's rugs go to a long table and to the windows for a sensational effect. The deep jeweltone rugs are Seythian inspired. The white floor in the room designed by Daren Pierce has been left bare. Black and white appliques adorn the silvery wall covering.

The foyer of the apartment has a large painted graphic circle of black and orange on the white floor with a round glass-topped table resting on it.

A sight and sound room by Vladimir Kagan in earth browns, beige, apricot and mauve might be called a gathering room. The 12 by 16 foot room seats 12 people comfortably on five levels. Although the room is furnished in contemporary style, there is a medieval feeling to it. Designed for writing, reading, listening and hovering, the room has a movie screen that drops down in front of the window blinds to accommodate a closet-focused projector. There are zig-zag bookshelf arrangements for various size books and a handsome table, a block carved to reveal different inlaid woods at different levels with a top designed to be used for chess and other games.

David Barrett's back-to-nature bedroom has a canopy bed with tendrilled metal flowers climbing up its white-painted posters. Walls are dark blue lattice over white, and the treillage is carried through the halls. A small white bathroom picks up the blue and white motif in a handsome tailored wallpaper. Bleached white floors are hand-stencilled in flowers. Ditto narrow-slat window blinds.

One living room provided an enormous feeling of solitude in its hushed atmosphere. In tones of deep grays, it had floor-to-ceiling louver-shuttered walls, long grey-painted metal cylinders from the ceiling projecting light, among other innovations. Many decorators close off windows in cities where views on lower floors may overlook bleak courtyards or other uninspiring views, and this room showed the advantages of shutting out distractions.

Other ideas included these: A child's bedroom: A false wall had two large portholes at the window area. Other walls were curved at ceiling and bottom and tree-painted in a variety of soft shades. Light showed above and below slim shadow boxes that lined the walls like soffits.

Indoor Garden: One end of a bedroom was partially framed on either side to provide a line of demarcation for plants. Two mirrors on either side of the window wall could be seen through the framing, giving a feeling of depth.

Ceiling Note: One room had an entire ceiling of tiles reproduced from the original old 19th century molds in acrylic to resemble the original plaster.

The family that plays together: A sofa done in patchwork style—each cushion, backrest and base section done in different brown and white fabric patterns could be a great decorating boon to the hard-living family with children and animals. Recover the damaged cushion and you can still be in style. The sofa was set against paisley wallpaper.

Large cube end tables: A good item for the do-it-yourselfer, these large cubes are becoming increasingly popular as end tables. The center core is covered with treated glass through which a light shines.

By ANDY LANG

Most furniture manufacturers use lacquer to produce those beautiful, clear, hard finishes that are so difficult to achieve by the amateur.

While the lacquer is sprayed on by the professionals, most do-it-yourselfers do not have the necessary spraying equipment or know-how. It is possible, however, to get excellent results by applying lacquer with a brush, provided you are willing to spend a little time getting the hang of it. This means practicing on scrap wood before tackling a serious job.

Most hardware stores, paint shops, lumber yards and home suppliers carry what is called brushing lacquer. Unfortunately, manufacturers often do not designate on the label the type of lacquer inside the can. If the one you select does not give this information, ask the dealer whether it is the kind of lacquer that is intended for use with a brush.

In using lacquer, the beginner should always dilute it with lacquer thinner, preferably of the same brand as the lacquer. Make a 50-50 mixture. After experimenting, you can then determine whether to use a lesser amount of thinner. As with all finishing materials, lacquer is best applied in several thin coats rather than one thick coat.

Lacquer begins to dry instantly after it is applied. This is both an advantage and a disadvantage. The advantage is that the finish is not as susceptible to dust as some other finishes, notably varnish. The disadvantage is that extra care must be taken in the application. Work small areas at a time, putting on the lacquer with a fairly full brush and working quickly without missing any spots. You must not go back over a section that has already been done, because it will have started to dry and thus will interfere with smooth application by the wet brush.

There are two schools of thought about sanding between coats. One says that each coat should be sanded very lightly. The other says that the sanding should be done only if there are any visible irregularities. My feeling is that the sanding is preferable, especially by the novice. But again, I emphasize—the sanding must be done with a light touch. Use a fine grade of wet-or-dry sandpaper, applying a little water to each section before sanding it. Wait about three or four hours between coats and before sanding.

If you don't have regular spraying equipment but have only a small area to finish, you might try using the lacquer that comes in a spray can. Be sure to follow the directions on the can on how far to hold the spray nozzle from the work surface.

(Patching plaster and concrete, repairing brickwork and replacing window panes are among the 35 subjects covered in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper in care of Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Seed lawn during fall

Fall is the very best time of year for seeding your lawn, according to the Merion Kentucky Bluegrass Association. The association offers several tips to help homeowners insure a better lawn for next year.

Here are some tips for better lawns, as issued by the association:

—When seeding, it would be well to consider a mixture of grasses. It's usually easier to establish a new lawn by seeding with a mixture because the wider growing characteristics of the seed will give better overall results with less effort.

—Read the instructions on the grass seed package. They should be tailored to the type of seed you are using.

—Use a spreader in applying seed. You can do the best job of spreading your seed and generally stretch the amount you buy by applying with a spreader that you can adjust precisely, according to directions.

MAJOR WORK — Arnie Lutz, Inkster's assistant recreation director, and the city's painter in residence, sits before his work entitled "Landscape Concerning Materialism."

before his work entitled "Landscape Concerning Materialism."

Art hangs in city hall

Inkster man creates

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Staff Writer

Arnie Lutz believes that it is every man's goal to be creative.

To reach that end, Lutz, Inkster's assistant recreation director, paints. One of his works hangs in the lobby of the Inkster City Hall.

"I call it 'Landscape Concerning Materialism,'" explained Lutz. "It shows how America, with all its technology, can solve the problems of mankind—racism, war, poverty, pollution—through progress."

"I believe it's the country's destiny to solve these problems."

Arnie Lutz has been painting since he was a junior high student. Throughout high school and into college, he put his thoughts on canvas.

While studying at Central Michigan University, he took a minor in art, and began to make acquaintances with others who thought like him.

Although he works in recreation now, Lutz wants to devote full time to painting.

"Recreation was natural for me," Lutz explained. "I always liked sports, so I got into it. I can be creative here, in a way, but, ideally, I'd like to be creative through painting."

When he first left school, Lutz taught. His latest job was at Inkster's Feltr Middle School. "I don't want to teach anymore," he said. "I think the educational system is bad the way it's set up. I had kids in my classes who didn't want to work, who weren't interested in art, but who were taking it because it's required."

"I couldn't see going to class to teach kids who were being forced into it."

The problem isn't unique to Inkster's system, however. Even during his student teaching days, Lutz had the same feelings.

Lutz couldn't find fulfillment in his life through teaching, so he sought another avenue—painting. "Whether my work is never recognized, I've found fulfillment in communicating my ideas to others through my paintings," he said. "If I reach one person with an idea in my paintings, I'm satisfied. It's nice when I reach others, however."

Lutz's paintings, at least the ones he considers good, are done in a primitive style — the forms and colors almost looking as though a child has chosen them and sketched them.

"I realize this makes it difficult for people to understand the painting," explained Lutz, "and for that reason, if someone asks, I'll explain the idea."

"But to me, the primitive style is almost child-like, and children — the younger they are — the closer they are to God. 'I think there's a child-like innocence in the primitive style of painting. Working in that way, I think I can get my ideas across better."

"It comes out almost naturally."

"But, understanding isn't the most important part of my painting. If someone doesn't understand the message, I take it into consideration, but, the most important aspect of painting, at least for me, is to be creative, not to communicate."

Over the years, Lutz has done hundreds of paintings. Of all those, he's satisfied with three. "One of them hangs in city hall," he said, "and another is up at Central Michigan."

"I got $500 for that painting."

Ideally, Lutz would like to support himself with his painting. He realizes it will be an uphill battle before he makes it, however.

"Painters, almost like writers, have to sell themselves," he said. "I try to sell myself by displaying my works at galleries and by getting permission to hang them in public places."

He's had his works in the Detroit Institute of Art, and in local galleries.

"I plan to leave here, sometime in the future, to try to paint in New York, and to put my works up in that area," he explained.

"But that will happen only when I'm pretty confident in my work. I'm working on that confidence now."

VFW sets 2d outing for golfers

The Harris Kehr Post 3323 of the VFW will be holding its second golf outing next Saturday at the Fellows Creek Golf Course.

The outing will begin at 9 a.m. when post commander Robert Kreiss tees off.

Participation is limited to the tee times available. Those interested in participating should contact Martin Ledbetter at 721-0163 after 4 p.m. daily.

Trophies and prizes will be awarded to those participating on a handicap system drawn up by the golf outing committee.

Actor Schell admits movie career is hard

By WAKA TSUNODA

NEW YORK — Maximilian Schell says, "with my vulnerability, it's hard to be in this business," but he is sticking it out because, after all, there's no business like show business.

The Vienna-born actor admits he has often been hurt, bruised and depressed since he plunged into the rough waters of the international entertainment field 10 years ago with a Best Actor Oscar for "Judgment at Nuremberg."

"I'm very vulnerable," he confessed. "Reviews bother me a lot. A bad review can hurt very much. It gives me a shock. It's like someone slapping a woman who's just had a baby in her face, and telling her that the baby is ugly. It's not nice—even if the baby is ugly."

"I find American reviewers generally responsible and just. European ones are aggressive, and say really terrible things. They even say you shouldn't exist. Someone said that about me once. It's getting more difficult every year, because people have a certain image of me, and expect me to measure up. You should be allowed failures."

Although his grandfather, Dr. Carl Noe Von Nordberg, was one of the most noted psychoanalysts of his day along with Sigmund Freud, Schell says he has no desire to lie on an analyst's couch to ease his woes.

"I try to get over flops by working, walking and talking. Sometimes I go to a movie, see other people suffer, too—and laugh. The best way to forget about them, though, is to set a new goal immediately and work for it."

"Despite all this, I can't imagine any other life. As an actor, you can live many lives. You can be a general; you can be a bum."

Schell has been, among other things, a jewel thief, a Nazi, a tutor and an artist-monk in such films as "Topkapi," "The Condemned of Altona," "Five Finger Exercise" and "Pope Joan."

However, like many of his colleagues, Schell has reached a point where he is no longer content to be just an actor. "Acting in someone else's film doesn't give you any control," says the jut-jawed actor, who has degrees in philosophy and the history of art from the University of Zurich.

So he has produced Franz Kafka's "The Castle," and directed, starred in, co-authored and co-produced "First Love," which was nominated for the Academy Award for the best foreign language film last year.

Schell has been active on the stage, too, writing, directing, and acting in Europe, and appearing on Broadway in "A Patriot For Me." But he says he finds himself "more and more involved in the films than in the theater."

"A play falls or rises on the first night. There's no second chance. A movie may fall in one city, but may succeed in another. Also it may fail when it opened, but may be revived successfully later. Like 'The Condemned of Altona'—it keeps coming back. And a film can, of course, reach a far larger audience."

He is now preparing his next production, "The Pedestrian." As to its theme, he prefers to keep it under wraps until it is finished. He said he's financing it partly with the prize money "First Love" won at film festivals, and partly with subsidies from the German government.

Poet Brodsky to speak at Schoolcraft College

Poet Iosif Brodsky, recently-appointed poet-in-residence at the University of Michigan, and almost as recently banished from his native Russia, will appear at Schoolcraft College on Oct. 3.

Considered by many as Russia's foremost poet, Brodsky was "invited" to leave permanently for Israel this past summer. Instead, he chose to come to the university to accept a post filled only once before - by Robert Frost from 1921 to 1923.

that he had always gone his own apolitical way, unbothered in any way to the Russian government or the Communist Party.

Brodsky, 32, was met at Metropolitan Airport in early July by his friends, Carl R. and Ellendea Proffer, who were instrumental in his coming to Michigan. He is a professor of Slavic languages and literature at the U of M, and the couple were visiting Brodsky the day his country invited him to leave.

The Proffers helped make the travel arrangements for Brodsky, and were able to help arrange his U of M appointment through the Slavic Department Executive Committee and the authorization of President Robin Fleming.

According to the university's information services, Brodsky's "crime" against Russia consisted of the fact that he had always gone his own apolitical way, unbothered in any way to the Russian government or the Communist Party.

At Schoolcraft, Brodsky will read some of his poetry in Russian and then English translations will be read. He will also answer questions, assisted by a translator whenever necessary.

Brodsky will appear at 8 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Theater. His appearance is sponsored by the Cultural and Public Affairs Committee. There is no charge and the public is welcome.

Final festival on tap

This weekend marks a first and last for Detroit's 1972 summer ethnic festival series.

It's the last weekend until next June to take advantage of the free fun offered at the festivals, and it's the first time that Detroit's Latin American community will present its culture on the downtown riverfront at Cobo Hall.

Representatives of 11 countries have contributed to the planning, entertainment, food and handicrafts featured at the festival. The 11 are Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Columbia, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Mexico, Nicaragua, Peru, Puerto Rico and Spain.

The rhythmic beat of maracas and castanets will be heard up and down the long, colorfully lit site behind Cobo Hall all weekend from 6 p.m. Friday evening when Mayor Romo S. Gribbs officially opens the festival until 11 p.m. Sunday evening when the fiesta ends.

Entertainment will be nonstop and varied. Friday evening, after national anthems from each of the participating countries are played, the orchestra of el Maestro Montes will play for dancing.

The schedule for Saturday and Sunday will include Brazilian folk music by Mike Zarate Jr. and his organ, Cuban music and dancing, El Trio Reina (A group of Puerto Rican and Mexican guitarists), Mexican dancing and an Argentine show featuring authentic gaucho (cowboy) costumes and dances. There will also be Fiesta Jibara - Puerto Rican teenagers playing the cuatro, a double four-string guitar, and doing humorous improvisations and reading poems, and a Colombian folklore show.

By JAN LAUTH
Well, the Belleville Community Players are back on stage. They aren't performing yet, just rehearsing for their upcoming play "Pillow Talk." After two weeks of tryouts, director Jean Daniels and her assistant director Trudi Heath are ready to work with the newly picked cast. The play is scheduled to be presented on Nov. 10 and 11 at the Belleville High School Auditorium. Although the cast has been chosen, there is still plenty of help needed on such things as the lighting crew, building crew, make-up or just general help. The group meets on Monday and Thursday nights from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at the Belleville High Auditorium. Anyone interested in the group may contact Joanne Haase at 697-0126 for more information.

Craft fair slated

The Wayne Recreation Department will hold a craft fair and sale Nov. 18 and 19 at the recreation building.

On exhibit at the fair will be the works of local artists and craftsmen. Wayne residents are encouraged to take part in the program. Each prospective entrant must send in an entry form with name, address, telephone number and type of art work being submitted. Forms should be sent to the Wayne Recreation Building, 3355 Wayne Rd., Wayne, 48184.

Railway offers 4-H scholarships

Eleven scholarships totaling $5,500 are being offered by the Chicago & North Western Railway Co., to eligible present and former 4-Hers attending college.

The offer marks the 50th year the railway company has supported the 4-H program through recognition of youth in its eight state service area.

Seven of the scholarships are offered to young men, one to each state — Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Recipients must be a junior, senior or graduate student in an accredited college or university, in the fall of 1972, with a major or minor in agricultural business or agricultural economics.

Three additional scholarships are awarded to youths selected from those seven states, plus South Dakota, who are majoring or minoring in agricultural business, agricultural economics or forestry.

Applicants must have completed at least one year of 4-H work and receive a scholarship more than one time, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises the program.

Winners of the scholarships are selected by the Cooperative Extension Service with announcement made at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30.

For more information on these and other scholarships valued at more than $180,000 and arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago, contact the local county extension office, located at 5455 S. Wayne Rd., Wayne.

VISITS QUEEN MARY — A recent visitor to the Queen Mary at her berth in the port of Long Beach, Calif., was Gloria Evanski of Romulus. The ship is open daily for tours of the Queen Mary museum, which includes the engine room, Jacques Cousteau's Living Sea exhibits and upper deck areas. The ship has three restaurants, an observation lounge, five banquet rooms and 32 specialty shops in operation.

JA to begin recruiting high school members

Young people in the six-county metropolitan Detroit area will have an opportunity to join Junior Achievement (JA) in their high schools during a period ending Oct. 6.

Hundreds of volunteers, including businessmen and teenagers, will go into the schools to talk to young people about the economic education program for high school youth, hoping to reach their goal of enrolling 9,000 young people in its 1972-73 program year.

Students in Junior Achievement, by forming and running their own miniature companies, learn how to manage, organize and run an actual corporation, getting good business experience and reference for the business world of tomorrow.

With stocks sold at the beginning of the year at $1 a share, the teenagers obtain the income needed to produce a product. They then create and package these products, selling them in door-to-door sales or at shopping mall trade fairs.

At the end of the year, each company member takes a hand in closing the business, thus experiencing the complete cycle of a business — from organization to liquidation.

Learning is made fun in J.A. by also involving high school students in contests and social events. Local competitions often lead to regional and national recognition, as well as scholarships and travel.

For 23 years, J.A. of Southeastern Michigan has provided thousands of young people each year with a no-cost education in the American free enterprise system.

J.A. is a non-profit organization sponsored by thousands of area business firms. In addition to financial support, the sponsors also provide advisors to the small-scale companies who share their knowledge with the student businessmen and women.

The 26 J.A. Business Centers in the Detroit area will open the week of Oct. 16.

School mothers fix up library

Mothers of students attending the Rawsonville Road Elementary School have organized and are operating a renovated library room at the school. The library room has new carpeting, paint and shelves.

The mothers reported the book drive in May was a successful campaign and the Parent-Teacher Action Group (PTAG) donated $200 for books and records.

The school's library is open from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m. each day. During this time, the following mothers have volunteered their time: Mrs. Wendy Dickson, Mrs. Shirley McCord, Mrs. Myrna Bos, Mrs. Jackie Schalzo, Mrs. Linda Speer, Mrs. Elsie Walters, Mrs. Kitty Smedra, Mrs. Doris Beckley.

Other mothers who have donated their time are Mrs. Cheri Salow, Mrs. Marilyn Jerkel, Mrs. Marge Fisher, Mrs. Jackie Bowman, Mrs. Muriel Fretenborough, Mrs. Jane Fuller, Mrs. Sharon Inman, Mrs. Phyllis McClelland and Mrs. Sandy Askew.

Huron scouting director leaves

A veteran field director of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council has left to take on similar duties with the Lone Tree Area Girl Scout Council in Oak Park, Ill.

Miss Kay Kimball of 24 S. Grove St., Ypsilanti, for 10 years directed the formation of troops and recruiting of volunteer leaders of Girl Scouts in the Ypsilanti area. More recently she has been in charge of the Southern Wayne County and northern Monroe County area. She has worked with Girl Scouts here for a total of 14 years.

Miss Kimball joined the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council a few months after its formation in 1958. Girl Scout organizations of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Plymouth and other cities merged at that time to form a regional group. At this time the council had 415 troops with 6,500 girls, compared with 594 troops and 12,500 girls today.

Miss Kimball is a member of the Calvary Baptist Church of Ypsilanti. She is a native of Muskegon.

Nurses' group is anti-abortion

Because of the intense interest in the proposed legislation to change the present laws concerning the life of unborn children, the Nurses Associated to Assure Life, Inc., of Perry would like to inform area nurses there is a group of concerned nurses who have become associated and incorporated to assure life and civil rights of unborn children.

NATAL would like all Michigan nurses to know they are welcome to join the group, which serves to educate the public through the use of medical and scientific facts about the biological, physiological and psychological development of the unborn child and the realities of abortion.

Nurses can now voice their concern through Nurses Associated to Assure Life, and NATAL needs all concerned nurses, reported Mrs. Barbara L. Martin, chairman of NATAL committee for education and public relations.

Schools take part in kidney program

The Van Buren Board of Education has agreed to participate in a Kidney Disease Detection Program to be conducted by the Kidney Foundation of Michigan under a grant from the Bowling Proprietors of Michigan and a Detroit newspaper.

With this grant, new foundation has outfitted a traveling laboratory, which the foundation calls "Kidney Bar," for the administration of tests.

These tests can detect urinary tract infections and abnormalities that can eventually lead to kidney damage.

School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz said parental permission will be requested in order to conduct free urine analyses of children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

The foundation has tested more than 7,000 children in western Wayne County, Washtenaw, Livingston and Grand Traverse counties, uncovering both minor and serious abnormalities.

Red Cross seeks more volunteers

Project FIND has sought out and found 19,000 tri-county residents who need help in receiving federal food assistance. Of this number, there are nearly 13,600 Detroiters.

These figures represent only the first distribution of requests from the Social Security office in Baltimore, Md.

Red Cross has assumed the responsibility of recruiting and training 500 volunteers to assist in Project FIND.

Morning and afternoon volunteer training sessions are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. to noon and 1:30 to 4 p.m. daily Sept. 20-23 and Sept. 25-29. Volunteers need only to attend one of the 2½ hour sessions which will meet at the Red Cross, 153 E. Elizabeth St., Detroit.

Persons interested in becoming a Project FIND volunteer may call the Red Cross at 961-3900.

Dansard's 2 TDs win for Belleville

Tigers launch league against Redford Union

Belleville High School head football coach Keith Emerson waited two years for a rematch with his old school, Dearborn Heights Robichaud. And before a capacity Belleville crowd, Friday night, the veteran coach got his wish as the Tigers avenged a 14-13 loss with a come-from-behind 15-6 non-conference victory over Coach Bob Yauck's Bulldogs. Two touchdowns by Mike Dansard, who was called upon to carry the ball 44 times, made the difference. "When we lost our starting quarterback on the third play of the game," said Emerson, "we almost were without a QB. Gary Van Buhler, our backup man, hadn't practiced all week because of a thigh bruise and we almost didn't dress him for the game. But then we decided he should be on hand if something happened to Lee," remarked Emerson. Something did happen to the Tiger starter and it was fortunate that Van Buhler, though ailing, was available for service. "I'm glad to win this one," said Emerson, who was at one time Robichaud's head football coach and athletic director.

Belleville was jolted in the first quarter as Robichaud got the kickoff and marched 64 yards in eight plays for a touchdown. Quarterback Warren Woods used Willie Smith to pound the Tigers defense most of the way. Smith plowed over from the four to give the Bulldogs a 6-0 lead which proved to be their only score of the evening. Belleville suffered what nearly proved to be a fatal blow when starting quarterback Stiltner was hurt on a handoff from scrimmage and was sidelined for the remainder of the game.

VanBuhler, was called in to take over the signal-calling duties. The Tigers, who started their initial series from their own 32-yard line then marched to "the inches line" thanks to Dansard's rushes and a 20-yard penalty. With a fourth-down at a yard to go, Robichaud's Willie Smith came through and stopped Dansard, snuffing out the TD threat. Belleville also missed a good shot at getting the equalizer early in the second quarter when Terry Pate returned a punt fumble at the Robichaud 24-yard line.

Robichaud's defense however pushed the Tigers back and Dansard had to kick from his 33-yard line before the series ended. With 2:04 on the clock, Belleville chalked up a touchdown when Dansard eluded a couple of Bulldog tacklers and raced 45-yards into the end zone. But the run was nullified because of a clipping penalty.

Robichaud's defense fell apart in the third quarter as Belleville took the kickoff and marched the distance to tie the score, then go-ahead. John Nichols booted the ball to Tim Branscomb who carried 20-yards to the 40 to give the Tigers good field position. Van Buhler called upon Dansard on 11 consecutive plays and the senior halfback responded, eventually driving to the one-yard line when he dashed over for the touchdown to tie the score.

With 6:18 left in the third quarter, Mike Prystup booted the extra point to give the host a 7-6 edge. Three minutes later Belleville found itself in possession of the ball again when Stan Mars picked off an errant Robichaud pass at the Bulldog 40-yard line.

Then Dansard was again called upon and he managed

FOLLOW THE LEADER — Veteran Romulus quarterback Virgil Smith (18) leaves a couple of would-be Inkster tacklers in his wake as he scampers into the end zone to score a second quarter touchdown. Smith led the Eagles to an impressive 34-0 victory over their visiting Vikings in the season opener. The victory also launched Bill Hardy's coaching career as Romulus' head coach.

Huron blanked in debut

Huron had the defense, but not the offense and that cost the New Boston high school an opening day defeat at the hands of conference rival Grosse Ile Friday night.

The Islanders struck for a second quarter field goal, then scored in the last minute of the game to claim a 9-0 victory over the Chiefs. The loss also ruined Jim Russow's debut as Huron's head coach.

"I was completely disappointed with our offensive line," said Russow who assumed the head coaching job when Lee Smeltzer resigned in June to accept another teaching-coaching position.

"I think our defense did its job, but we didn't generate any sort of offense."

Huron picked up 22-yards rushing and went to the air 25 times of which five passes were intercepted. The Chiefs netted 132 yards from their air attack.

The furthest Chief penetration was to the Islanders' 30-yard line.

Grosse Ile managed to break a scoreless deadlock in the second quarter when Rick Ray was called upon to kick a field goal from the 20-yard line. He made it, giving the visitors a 3-0 halftime edge.

The two teams again staged a defensive duel for most of the second half. The Islanders capitalized on Huron's fifth passing miscue in the closing minutes. They picked off the interception at the 30-yard line and scored on Fritz Jackson's eight-yard sprint.

Jamie Hinojosa and Dana Kemp were the bright spots in Huron's opening game with Hinojosa came up with 18 tackles (assists and unassisted) from his middle linebacking slot. Kemp picked off two passes.

Huron will again be at home Friday night to take on its second league rival of the season, Carlson. Carlson dropped its opener 18-6 to Airport, however Russow expects another close battle.

"They're a good football team and I expect a close game, like the one we played last Friday and if the offensive line doesn't come around we'll be in trouble."

defense, led by middle guard Marvin Williams and linebacker Daryl Gooden, contained the Vikings without much trouble. The furthest Viking penetration was to the Eagles' 20-yard line and after a punt and that was nullified because of a penalty.

Romulus scored two TDs in the second quarter as Virgil Smith slipped around left end and crashed 29-yards for a touchdown with 6:23 on the clock. Later, Ray Hollis broke off tackle and raced 29-yards into the end zone with 1:08 remaining in the half. The hosts had a 20-0 edge at intermission.

After a scoreless third quarter, Mike Darden tallied on a 12 yard run and chipped in the conversion while Virgil Smith went 38-yards for paydirt after failing to find an available receiver.

Smith, who hit on 10 of 15 aeriels for 102 yards also chipped in 75 yards rushing. Hollis, along with the touchdown run, had seven carries for 85-yards while Jerry McChorter's rushed for 104 yards on 10 opportunities. Brad Smith accounted for 85 yards in six tries.

"I feel our entire offensive line did a fairly decent job,"

Romulus stuns Inkster

Enterprise-Roman Sports

Wednesday, September 20, 1972

Romulus' first year head coach Bill Hardy took a big step Friday in realizing his team's goal to go undefeated for the 1972 season. The Eagles swamped Inkster High 34-0 before a couple of hundred cheerful Romulus fans.

"I feel we have some rough edges," said Hardy, "but I'm elated that we managed to put some points on the board. Though we realize we have a lot of work to do, we did ground out the victory. And you do expect mistakes in an opener," Hardy said, "but over-all I'm satisfied with our victory."

Inkster must have seen the handwriting on the wall in the opening quarter. After receiving the kickoff and using up six plays Cornelius James punted the ball from his own 29 to the Romulus 37-yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage, Romulus quarterback Virgil Smith handed the ball to Jerry McWhorter who smashed through the Viking defense for 30-yards. Then, the Eagles successfully executed a reverse as Brad Smith sprinted 38-yards for a touchdown. Virgil then faked a pass, broke for the end zone to score the 2-point conversion and give the Eagles a quick 8-0 lead.

That's the way it went all day for Romulus whose

Eagles lose 1st meet

Romulus opened its 1972 cross country season on a sour note last week as it lost to Wayne Memorial, 19-43.

Meanwhile, Belleville raised its overall record to 3-1 when it split a double dual meet with Riverview and Wyandotte and defeated Redford Union in a dual meet.

Coach Bob Boudreau's runners then edged Redford Union, 28-29, in their Suburban Eight League opener at Cass Beaton Park.

dropped its opening meet on Wayne Memorial's course.

Trump was timed in 16:55 for three miles as he trailed Wayne's Walt Nowak, who ran the course in 16:11, across the finish line.

Angelo Sandusky, who placed eighth, was the next Eagle runner to finish.

Eldon Butler, Don Richmond, and Phil Franklin were the other harriers who figured in the scoring for Romulus.

The defeat came in Al Wilkerson's first meet as the Romulus coach.

Wilkerson is taking over a team which finished 0-8 last in dual meet competition last season. Trump is the team's only runner with a great deal of cross country experience.

"We're a young team and we can be expected to have problems," said Wilkerson after his team's opening meet. But we've been working hard and I think we'll show some progress during the season.

Trump is a very good runner and Sandusky, a sophomore, has shown potential. Richmond and Butler, who are seniors out for the first time, look like they'll help us."

The Eagles, who had an away meet at Highland Park yesterday, will run at Willow Run at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Romulus will hold its home meets at Shady Hollow Golf Club this season.

The Tigers' home opener is slated for 4 p.m. on September 28, when they'll host Ypsilanti.

Wyandotte's Jeff Green finished first with a time of 15:13 over a relatively flat three-mile course as Belleville split its double dual meet.

IN UNFAMILIAR ROLE — Belleville's Mike Dansard, who's more accustomed ramming the line, took on the role of passer above as he clicked with Terry Pate on a two-point conversion attempt. Dansard scored two touchdowns in leading the Tigers to a 15-6 nonleague opening game victory over Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

Brown does 'his thing,' parachuting

BY TOM MOORADIAN

You meet the most interesting people on your vacation: like Mike Brown, former Garden City East High all-around athlete who is busy these days leaping from airplanes — with parachutes — and not being arrested for his daringness.

The 28-year-old, sandy-haired, 6-3, 185-pound ex-East High baseball, basketball and football star has made 1,840 free falls from an airplane, not counting the 23 military falls as a member of Uncle Sam's team.

"I got hooked on parachuting when I was in the service," said Brown as he related some of his experiences. "It's a sport with me now and if you'd ever try it once you'd get hooked, too."

A lot of people apparently are getting hooked on it as a sport. Sky-diving clubs have popped up in the area. Saline, Salem and Tecumseh are where most enthusiasts go "to do their thing."

Brown, who is also an instructor in Gulfport, Miss., where he makes his home, says that sky-diving is as safe as any sport, if not safer.

"The most dangerous part of parachuting is driving your car to the airport," Brown said. "I have had more close calls in my car than in the air."

Brown explained that the jumper has two chutes, the initial and a reserve. If for some reason the initial chute doesn't open or there is a problem, the jumper then can utilize his reserve chute.

"The odds are phenomenal that both chutes will malfunction," he says.

Has he ever had to push the "panic button?"

"During a span of 7½ years, I went without a malfunction of the initial chute, but over the past 15 months I have used my reserve five times, he said. "When you figure the number of jumps I have made, that's not bad, is it?"

Brown, who was the recipient of the Associated Newspapers All-Sports trophy (see Guardian) in 1962, has accumulated a batch of titles since taking up sky-diving as a sport. He was the National Collegiate Parachuting Accuracy champ in 1968, competing as a student from the University of Southern Mississippi.

In 1969 Brown placed third in the over-all National Collegiate championships in a field of 150 contestants.

Brown explained that the object of the skydiver in such competition is in an accuracy meet is to come as near as possible to a target disc in a field. The jumper usually leaps from a height of 2,000-2,500 feet.

Points are given or subtracted on the basis of the closest landing to the disc.

The ultimate for the jumper is land "dead center" on the disc.

In the over-all tournament, the jumper is judged on accuracy, execution of maneuvers and the difficulty of maneuvers which consist usually of intricate backloops and turns.

Brown also managed to win the Southern Conference championship over-all title in 1970. The conference is made up of six regions in the South.

After graduation from East High, Brown enlisted in the Army and was stationed at Fort Bragg, where he began his parachuting career. He made 23 military jumps. None, fortunately, was in any war zone.

"I didn't see action in Vietnam," said Brown. "I guess I was one of the lucky ones."

Cougar varsity, 2-0

The Belleville Cougars varsity football team defeated the Garden City Panthers, 7-6, at the Belleville High School field Sunday.

The victory gave the Cougars a 2-0 record for the 1972 campaign and represented their 12th straight win over the past two seasons. Larry Pingleton scored the Cougar touchdown when he ran 51 yards on the first play from scrimmage.

Cal Patterson provided the winning margin with his extra point kick.

The Cougar junior varsity and freshman teams were not as fortunate in the games against Garden City.

The junior varsity lost, 19-6, while the freshman team suffered a 12-6 setback.

Both teams are now 0-2 for the season.

Mark Daroci accounted for the freshman scoring when he raced 64 yards to paydirt on a quarterback keeper.

The Cougar teams will play the Northville Colts at Northville High School Saturday night with the first game starting at 5:30 p.m.

TIGER THRUST — A highly-regarded Dearborn Heights Robichaud aggregation was jolted by Belleville Friday night in the opening game of the season as All-Area halfback Mike Dansard (38) stabbed at the Robichaud line and cut out two touchdowns to help his mates overcome a 6-0 halftime deficit and win 15-6. Belleville will open the Suburban 8 Conference season Friday night at home to Redford Union.

over the Vikings at mid-season last year, and began his first full year of coaching Friday, said "he was very disappointed with his team." "We're going to have to go back to the basics," said James. "There was no blocking and tackling out there. Everything broke down for us."

James added that the team missed Elvin Walker, the starting fullback-linebacker, and tight end Daryl Lynem. Walker was out because of a death in the family and Lynem missed the opener because of an injury.

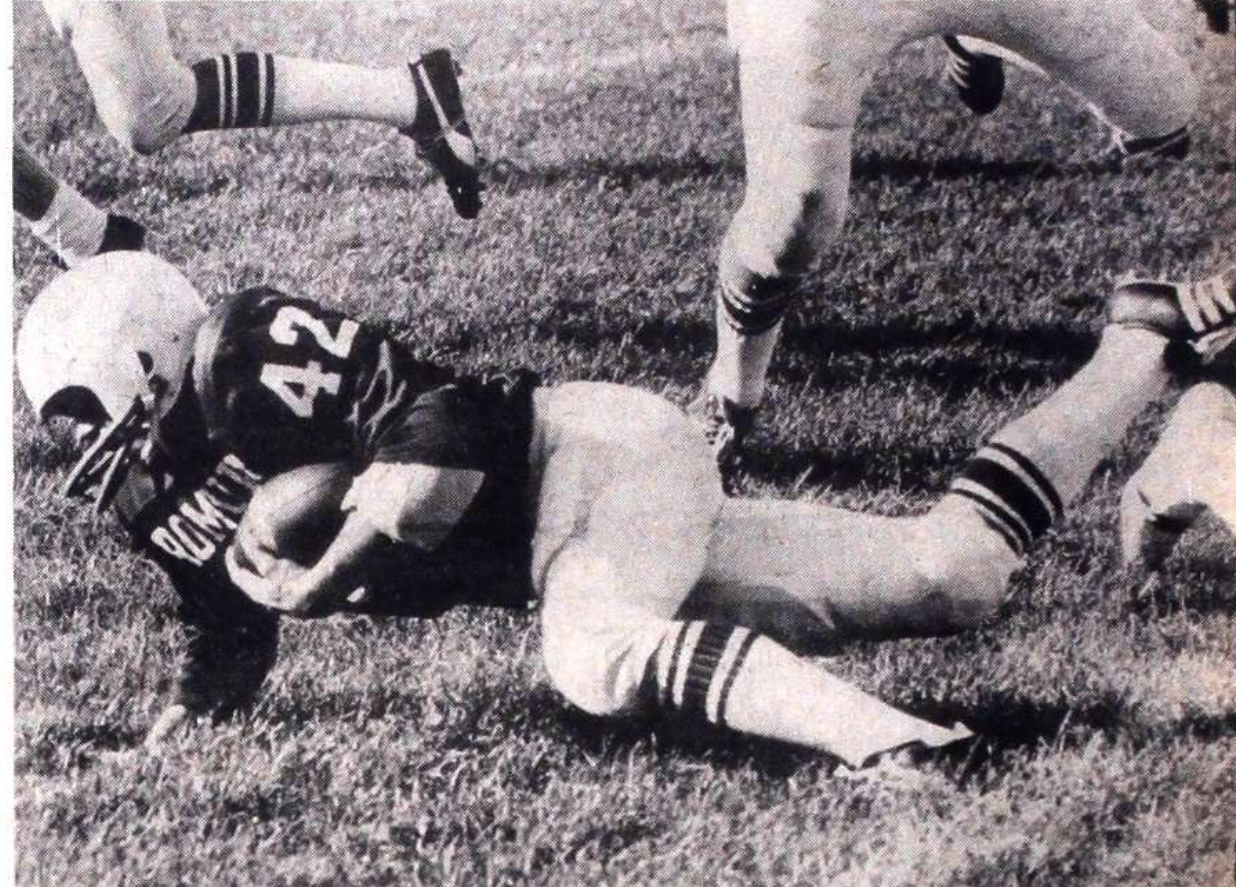

"I'm not making any excuses or anything," commented James, "but I know if we had these two boys the game would have been closer."

The Viking mentor commended his captain, Russel Kennedy for an outstanding game but added that the quarterbacking must improve "if we are to stay on the field with the remaining opponents."

Romulus piled up a total of 382 yards of which 280 was from its rushing game and 102 from passing. Williams and Gooden each recovered Inkster fumbles and Earl Champagne managed to block a third quarter Viking punt and also picked up a delinquent hand off.

Hardy feels "that there are some misconceptions about Thurston's real strength," the team the Eagles will face on Saturday at the Detroit high school's field.

"They lost their opener 7-6 but they have at least 15 solid ball players and it's going to be a rougher ball game for us," said Hardy, "I respect Thurston very much."

THE 'SMITH BROTHERS' — Inkster had a heap of trouble Friday stopping the Smith brothers - Brad and Virgil as the two Romulus backs played havoc with the Vikings. Above, Brad (42) stumbles into the end zone after taking the ball on a reverse and racing 38-yards on the second play from scrimmage in the opening quarter to score. The Eagles blanked Inkster 34-0 and will shoot for No. 2 on Saturday at Detroit Thurston (1:30 p.m.) Thurston lost its opener to Livonia Churchill.

(Continued from 1st Sports) to carry his team to the 33 where Robichaud took over on downs. Robichaud's offense again failed to materialize and the Bulldogs handed the ball over to the Tigers via a kick. With 1:22 remaining and at midfield, Belleville took over. Dansard picked up 30 yards on an off-tackle slant, then worked his way to the five yard line in four yards when time ran out in the quarter.

It took Dansard two plays in the fourth quarter to cross the goal line for his second TD of the game. Then, Van Buhler flipped a pitch out to Dansard who hit Pate for the two-point conversion, rounding out the scoring.

Dansard carried the ball 44 times for 192 of his team's 207 total yardage.

"I feel we were in better physical condition and that made a tremendous difference," said Emerson later. "Offensively, I also felt that our entire line did a good job and Van Buhler must be commended for the way he was able to step in and take over the quarterbacking."

Emerson also said it is doubtful whether Stiltner will be able to play against Redford Union.

Belleville's outside linebackers, George Medley and Pate came up with stellar performances in stopping the speedy Robichaud backs. Medley received credit for 19 tackles. John Alford and Art Meyers along with Tim Wellday also earned praise for their efforts.

Mars and Branscomb each had interceptions. Redford, which was denied the inaugural Suburban 8 Conference championship when it dropped its final game of the season, lost its season's opener to Livonia Stevenson 18-7.

"But let's not forget that Stevenson has 25 lettermen back. You have to respect Redford Union because of their past performance."

Belleville, again the host, will launch the league season at 8 p.m.

Glenn is runnerup at Schoolcraft meet

Block finished first with a time of 17:47 over the hilly Cass Benton layout as he led the Tigers to their win over Redford Union.

Seniors Cicotte and Chris Palnau were third and fourth respectively. Sophomore Dave Palnau provided the winning margin when he passed a Redford Union runner in the final 400 yards and captured eighth place.

Tom Kof, another Tiger soph, was 12th.

"Thus far I'm pleased with the way we've run," said Boudreau, who is in his first season as the Belleville coach. "We should be tougher after Mark Davis recovers from an illness which has kept him from running as well as he can and Randy Block has proven to be an excellent competitor."

Randy is really coming along."

The Tigers will open their home season at 4 p.m. tomorrow when they host Trenton at Lower Huron Metro Park.

Wayne Memorial's Walt Nowak was the second runner to cross the finish line while John Glenn placed second in the team competition at the Schoolcraft College Invitational Meet at Cass Benton Park Sunday.

Nowak ran the three-mile course in 16:13 as he finished four seconds behind winner Mike McGuire of Farmington. Nowak's performance helped the Zebras place fifth in the field of 23 schools.

John Glenn compiled a total of 91 points as it was the runner-up behind defending champion Livonia Stevenson, which had 91.

Nowak, who is a senior, remained close behind the Stevenson star until the finish of the tight race.

Jim Lockwood, who placed fifth in 16:39, Dave Kirst, who finished seventh in 16:52, and Bob Faust, who was eighth in 16:53, led the Rockets to their second place finish.

Jeff Andrews (52nd) and Bob Mink (53rd) rounded out the Glenn scoring.

Wayne might have finished higher if Ray Nowak had not been forced to drop out midway through the race because of a heavy cold.

RYBA selects leaders

The Romulus Youth Baseball Association held its first organizational meeting for the 1973 season last week.

League officers and Women's Auxiliary officers were chosen at the meeting. R.J. Thomas was named President while Ray Pokrowski was appointed Vice-President of the Board of Directors.

Carol Hein was named Secretary and Glen Finch was appointed Treasurer.

Other members of the Board of Directors will be Wally Brown, Ted Crutcher, Al Britz, and Marge McCrory.

Marge McCrory was also named President of the Women's Auxiliary. Other Women's Auxiliary officers will be: Jan Walton, Vice-President; Gladys Finch, Secretary, and Pat Lender, Treasurer.

Until further notice all R.Y.B.A. meetings will be held on the second Thursday of every month.

Brown has participated in what his profession calls "relative work" where one and more jumpers hook up (join hands) in the air during a free fall. He has been on a team where eight jumpers have formed a "human star".

The largest "human star" formed in the United States is an eight-man formation, but the world record is 24.

The good-looking athlete also has earned his gold wings, awarded to a parachutist who has completed 1,000 free falls. The award is given by the United States Parachutist Association, of which Brown is a member.

He also is nearing another landmark, receiving his diamond award, signifying that he has made 2,000 free fall jumps. The diamond is set in the gold wings. Upon completion of each 1,000 jumps, he will be presented with another diamond.

Two Americans have made more than 4,000 free fall jumps and a Russian has made more than 6,000, Brown says.

Brown points out that there is little danger of parachutes getting tangled or getting hurt during free fall jumps. "When a person knows what he or she is doing, there usually isn't a problem," he said.

"If you don't believe me, come up with me and I'll show you."

No, thanks, Mike. We'll take your word for it.

NEW CLASSROOMS — Van Buren Public School District is installing new portable classrooms at several of its elementary schools this year. Above is a view of some of the portable classrooms that will be used because of increased student enrollments. Each portable classroom has a capacity of approximately 25 students, according to school administrators.

AN INTERIOR VIEW — Four new portable classrooms are being installed at the Haggerty Road Elementary School, Belleville, for the 1972-73 school year. Increases in student enrollments in the Van Buren Public School District has

ENTRANCE AND WINDOW VIEW — This is a view of one of four portable classrooms being erected on the grounds of the Haggerty Road Elementary School in Belleville. The classrooms, with a capacity of approximately 25 students, are not only being installed at Haggerty School, but at three other elementary schools in the Van Buren Public School District. Increases in this year's student enrollment in the school district is the reason behind the need for the portable classrooms. Two school building bond proposals have been rejected by the voters in elections held in April, 1972, and March, 1971.

Van Buren Public School District is installing 10 portable classrooms at four of its elementary schools, School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz announced.

The portable classrooms are to be used at the Haggerty Road Elementary, Edgemont Elementary, Quirk Road Elementary and the Rawsonville Elementary schools.

Two school building bond proposals to finance the construction of new schools, the purchase of school sites and other school building improvements were rejected by the school district's voters in elections held in April, 1972, and March, 1971.

The April school building bond proposal was in the amount of $10 million and the March building bond proposition was in the amount of $2.5 million.

A student enrollment in excess of 8,000 is forecast by Kaulitz for the 1972-73 school year. Student enrollment last year stood at 7,967.

Four of the portable classrooms are being installed at Haggerty School, two apiece at Edgemont, Quirk and Rawsonville Schools.

Oxen's halo?

The word halo—a circle of light—comes from the Greek name for a threshing floor on which oxen walked a circular path by going round and round the floor.

Red Cross issues tips to make hunting safer

Knowledge of how to handle firearms and what to do if an accident occurs can make hunting safer and more enjoyable for the sportsman, according to the Red Cross.

This year President Nixon has declared Sept. 23 as National Hunting and Fishing Day.

"Some 2,600 persons die from carelessness during hunting outings each year because they don't know first aid or observe safety precautions while hunting," said George Wibby, director,

Red Cross Safety Programs.

Because hunting accidents usually occur far from medical help, someone in the party should know how to administer first aid. In the case of a wound, the bleeding may be controlled by applying direct pressure to a wound with cloth.

If the wound is deep, the fingers and/or dressing should be inserted into the wound and firm pressure applied. Don't remove a blood-soaked dressing, but apply more layers on top of it.

If no fractures are evident, elevate a bleeding arm or leg. If the victim is in shock, lay him down, keeping the injured area higher than his heart when possible. Maintain normal body temperature. The size of the entry wound may not be indicative of the seriousness of the injury, so get the person to a doctor as soon as possible.

Hunting accidents can be avoided if hunters will observe basic safety precautions. Carry guns correctly — underarm, shouldered, cradled or with both hands. Make sure the safety is on, your finger is outside the trigger guard and the muzzle is pointed in a safe direction.

When getting ready for a hunting trip, obtain a Red Cross first aid kit and wear bright colored clothes so others won't mistake you for game. Know the terrain where you will be hunting so a fall won't cost you your life, and treat your gun at all times as if it was loaded. Never point your gun at anything you don't intend to shoot and don't fire until the object is completely visible.

Safety in hunting and fishing activities directly concern Red Cross First Aid, Small Craft and Water Safety Programs. Call your local Red Cross for information on safety classes.

The Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual general meeting during the third week in October.

The exact date, time and place will be announced soon. An annual report of the chamber's financial status and its past performance will be reviewed at this meeting, along with the proposed programs and projects for the coming year.

The executive board of the chamber urges the entire chamber membership to make a special effort to be present at this important meeting so everyone is aware of what is being done.

The chamber needs the voice and support of all its members to be able to function to the best of its ability, the executive board reported.

Snowmobile races slated for weekend

The third annual Wayne County Snowmobile Summer Drag Races will be Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 23 and 24.

The races on turf, now snow, are being sponsored by the Wayne County Sportsman's Club and will be held at the club grounds, located on Inkster Road, between Pennsylvania and Sibley roads, Romulus.

The event is MISA (Michigan International Sportsmen Association) points-sanctioned and there will be all classes, including family stock, super stock and modified; also an officials' race.

Registration will be held each morning from 9 to 11:30 a.m. The races will start at 12:30 p.m., both Saturday and Sunday.

Admission is $1.50 for adults. Children 12 and under will be admitted free. Refreshments will be served on the grounds and plenty of parking room will be available.

Local student in CMU band

A local student will be marching with the Central Michigan University Chipewas band when it makes its campus debut Sept. 30.

Glenn Hayes of 7335 Hollywood, Romulus, will be among the marching Chipewas when the CMU gridders meet Indiana State University.

The Christian Fischers of Wayne Rd. were hosts to Mrs. Fischer's relatives at their annual family reunion last Sunday. As most of the relatives are city-dwellers, young and old alike, enjoyed a day in the country and a bit of horseback riding. In mid-afternoon a pot luck dinner was served.

Present at the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Feiler of Wyandotte (Mrs. Fischer's parents); Mrs. Rose Hoffman; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bart and son, Greg; Mr. and Mrs. John Barbour, family and guest, Karen Siemik, all of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dalzell and daughters of Wyandotte; Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berger, and family, Diana and her guest, Mark Siemora; Ron and his guest, Sue Reeves, and Debbie, Steven and David, all of Highland; Mr. Peter Feiler and daughter of Southgate; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Scheitz and grandsons, Steve and Todd, of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scheitz and son, Bobby; Miss Jan Fischer of Belleville and guest; Robert Rendleman of Ypsilanti.

Oldest member present was Mr. Joseph Feiler and the youngest, little Bobby Scheitz. Next year's reunion will be hosted by the Dalzell family of Wyandotte.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Miank of Goddard Rd. have moved their residence to Chatham Hill Estate Apartments on Old Grand River, in Farmington. The couple recently enjoyed a 2300 mile motor trip in the West. They toured nine states and visited relatives, the Archie Lierleys in Paxton, Nebraska (she's the former Joyce Miank) and an uncle of Mrs. Miank in Flora, Illinois. While in Nebraska Mrs. Miank had the thrill of seeing her first Jackalope and her first wild peacock!

The congregation of the Calvary Baptist Church, 11338 Ozga Road, and their pastor, Rev. Lonnie England, cordially invites local folks to attend the dedication service of their beautiful new sanctuary, on Sunday, September 24, at 3 p.m.

A surprise birthday party was held Wednesday evening, September 6, in honor of Mrs. Christine Popich of 16250 Wahrman Road. The celebration was given in honor of her fiftieth birthday by her four daughters and her sister, Ann Micik, at the Micik home, 16430 Wahrman Road. Seventeen ladies were present for a delicious luncheon and period of games. The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Fischer of Wayne Road attended the recent wedding of their nephew, Phillip Alan Fischer, to Miss Helen Protopappas, at the Martha-Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village. Dinner and dancing immediately followed the late afternoon ceremony.

Plans are going ahead for the annual Fall Rummage Sale sponsored by the W.S.C.S. at the Romulus United Methodist Church. This year's event is scheduled for October 5, 6 and 7. If you have items you no longer want after fall housecleaning, the ladies would appreciate your donating them for the Rummage Sale.

Rev. Hal Ferris spent the weekend camping at Brighton, Michigan with the United Methodist Youth Fellowship group. Lay speaker, in his absence, at the Sunday morning worship service at the Romulus United Methodist Church was Bernie Hughey of New Boston. Mrs. Pearl Varner of Haggerty Road was the substitute organist for the day.

Local 4-H leaders may secure a model rocketry leaders guide at the 4-H Extension Office in Wayne. Also, a corresponding member's publication is now available. If enough interest is shown in this project, a "Blast Off" contest may be an event at next year's Wayne County 4-H Fair. Do you have an extra little lamb that you'd like to give away? 4-H'er Gayle Davidson (349-0342) is very anxious to give it a new home.

Area 4-H snowmobile program to be offered

A new national snowmobile education program for 4-H youth throughout the snowbelt this winter has been announced by the National 4-H Service Commission, Chicago.

The program will have the financial assistance and tactical cooperation of the Ski-Doo Division of Bombardier Limited.

The program services associate of the National 4-H Service Committee, Don Johnson, speaking at a recent press conference in connection with the Greater Detroit Snowmobile Show, said a new national emphasis in snowmobiling will give added youth interest in the petroleum power program.

Snowmobile educational aids are being developed under a grant from Ski-Doo and will be ready for use by state, county and local 4-H clubs beginning in January, he said.

Youth in snowmobile projects will be eligible for Petroleum Power Small Engines competition at the 1973 National 4-H Congress.

"Educational material and activities will be adaptable to the varying age levels of 4-H members," Johnson said. Background and development of snowmobiling, what to wear, how to survive winter outdoors, environmental respect, respect for others and their rights, recreational activities such as camping, cookouts and trail riding related to snowmobiling will be included in addition to the mechanical and maintenance aspects of the machines, he added.

Johnson said manuals for 4-H members, guides for instructors and corollary materials will be available at county extension offices this winter.

Alcohol meet, set

"Fight the myths of alcohol with the truth! Help yourself and help others!"

This is the appeal of Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) social worker, Ray Hillen, who is asking teenagers to prepare themselves to help combat alcoholism by attending the fall training program of the Youth Council on Alcohol.

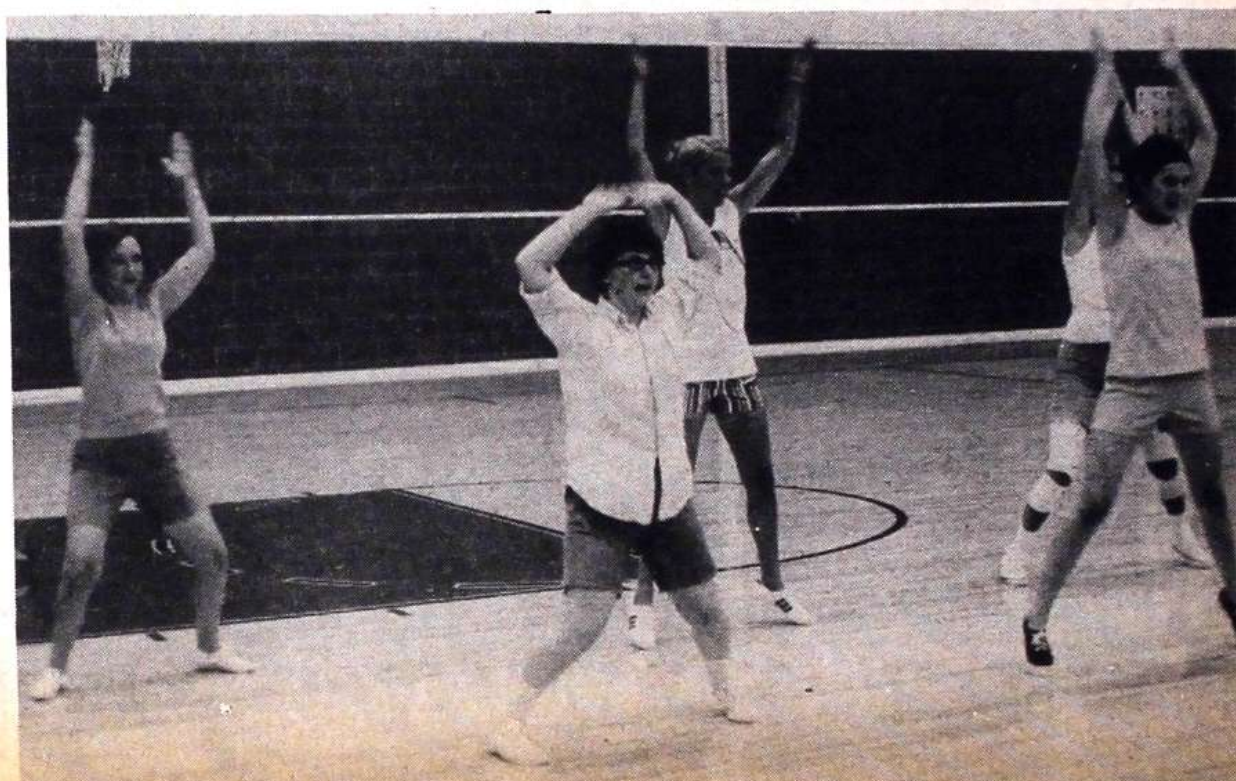

The course will be offered at three metropolitan centers: St. Mary's of Redford High School, Southland Aquinas High and the Gabriel Richard Building in downtown Detroit.

Classes will meet once a week, two hours a night for six weeks. Any teenager who is interested is invited to phone Hillen at 963-7172. There is no charge for the course.

The deadline for registration is Monday, Oct. 2.

BUSY BABYSITTER — The physical fitness program conducted at North Junior High School, Belleville, on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights under the sponsorship of Van Buren Township is becoming popular with area mothers. Above is Darlene Russ, babysitter, watching over her temporary charges while the mothers are busy keeping fit. The program, entitled "Run for your Life," includes jogging and other recreational activities.

TEFFING OFF — George Wilhelm, director of Romulus' Urban Renewal Program and recently named part-time executive director of Romulus Public Housing Commission, tees off at last Wednesday's open golf tournament held at the Shady Hollow Golf Course, located at Smith and S. Wayne Road, Romulus. The golfing event was sponsored by the Romulus Jaycees.

Jaycees in Romulus hold golf tournament

Romulus Jaycees' first open golf tournament held last Wednesday at the Shady Hollow Golf Course, Smith and S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, was a "rousing success," according to Rod Hanna, chairman of the Jaycees' golfing event.

At first, intending to be a pioneering project which might eventually develop into an annual event, the Jaycees were surprised and elated by a crowd of more than 125 participants.

Although the weatherman appeared to be uncooperative, the sun eventually broke through and allowed the golfers an early start.

The golfers and duffers alike began the day with a continental breakfast and proceeded to the links. Between the first and second of the first nine holes, an opportunity to compete in a "hole-in-one" contest was provided. The incentive for the participating golfers was a 3 1/2 foot high trophy valued at more than $200.

Refreshments for the golfing event were prepared by Ford-Party-Pak and food serving began with a buffet-style lunch starting at 11:30 a.m. and continuing until dinnertime. Beverages were on hand at all times.

In the evening, card tables were provided for the patrons and the door prizes were awarded.

The first prize, consisting of a portable television set, was won by Romulus Fire Chief Joseph Crova. Second prize, a shag bag was won by Al Laverack, and the hole-in-one prize or trophy was won by Mickey Reel, Romulus businessman with a shot that landed 5 feet 3 inches from the pin.

There were 60 other door prizes of golf equipment and portable radios also awarded. U. S. Congressman William D. Ford, who had planned to attend, telegraphed that he could not be present and donated the second prize mentioned above.

Musical entertainment was provided by "The Ross Brothers" band.

Lions request help in projects

The Rawsonville Woods Lions Club serving the communities of Sumpter and Augusta townships issued a plea Monday for resident cooperation and assistance in two club projects.

Kenneth Bush, chairman of the club's publicity committee, said:

"At this time we would like to ask our area neighbors to assist us in two projects. First is to remember that the fall school semester has started and to take extra caution when driving and be on the alert for children going to and from school.

"Secondly, we ask for the assistance in a clothing and toy drive to be conducted through Sept. 24 for the boys and girls at the Ypsilanti State Hospital's York Woods Center."

Bush reported that the boys and girls, from 6 to 16 years of age, are in need of toys and playground equipment. He added that in various businesses, located in both communities, posters detailing various drop points and telephone numbers are on display.

The Rawsonville Woods Lions Club meets on the first and third Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the community club house of the Rawsonville Woods Mobile Home Estates, Inc., located on Rawsonville Road at the I-94 Expressway.

The Huron Board of Education has accepted the resignation of three employees. Submitting resignations to the school board, were Jack Marcero of Carleton, English teacher, who entered private business; Grace Schroth of New Boston, office secretary, who resigned because of ill health; and Ethel Jewell of New Boston, custodian employee, who has reached the retirement age of 65.

The school board also announced the employment of three new teachers. They are Miss Mary Garvarino, secondary teacher; Miss Nancy DuFort, speech therapist; and Mrs. Carol Pennings, elementary teacher.

Jaycees hold Romulus meet

The Romulus Jaycees will hold a membership meeting at the Holiday Inn in Romulus on Sept. 26.

A dinner at 7 p.m. will precede the 8 p.m. meeting of the club.

This year President Nixon has declared Sept. 23 as National Hunting and Fishing Day.

"Some 2,600 persons die from carelessness during hunting outings each year because they don't know first aid or observe safety precautions while hunting," according to the Red Cross.

Because hunting accidents usually occur far from medical help, someone in the party should know how to administer first aid. In the case of a wound, the bleeding may be controlled by applying direct pressure to a wound with cloth.

If the wound is deep, the fingers and — or dressing should be inserted into the wound and firm pressure applied. Don't remove a blood-soaked dressing, but apply more layers on top of it.

If no fractures are evident elevate a bleeding arm or leg. If the victim is in shock, lay him down, keeping the injured area higher than his heart when possible. Maintain normal body temperature. The size of the entry wound may not be indicative of the seriousness of the injury so get the person to a doctor as soon as possible.

Hunting accidents can be avoided if hunters will observe basic safety precautions. Carry guns correctly — underarm, shouldered, cradled or with both hands. Make sure the safety is on, your finger is outside the trigger guard, and the muzzle is pointed in a safe direction.

When getting ready for a hunting trip, obtain a Red Cross first aid kit and wear bright colored clothes so others won't mistake you for game. Know the terrain where you will be hunting so a fall won't cost you your life, and treat your gun at all times as if it was loaded. Never point your gun at anything you don't intend to shoot, and don't fire until the object is completely visible.

Lottery tickets to be available

Michigan's Upcoming state lottery will be the best in the nation, according to State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D — 38th Dist.). Mahalak added that locations for the purchase of lottery tickets readily will be available throughout the Western Wayne County area.

"I am most pleased with the progress of lottery plans to date," Mahalak said, "and I am thoroughly satisfied that it will create great interest throughout the state. This interest, of course, will mean more income for the state without the need for further taxes."

"The higher weekly prizes — higher than any other state — and the greater number of prizes to be awarded, are the source of this greater interest that the lottery will generate," Mahalak continued. "Higher prizes mean more incentive for citizens to participate, and more frequent prizes mean that their chances of winning are that much better."

Rep. Mahalak pointed out that a good lottery system generates its own publicity.

"The mistakes made by the earlier states that tried lotteries were in making prizes large, in having few prizes, and in putting high prices on tickets," he said. "We are avoiding these mistakes. Our lottery will really start to take off, as soon as everyone comes to know someone in his family, or in his neighborhood, who has won in the lottery."

"I have been assured," Mahalak said, "that a concerted effort will be made to locate ticket selling agents at convenient locations throughout western Wayne County. These agents will be present residents with established business of various sorts. Thus, the lottery will have positive economic effects for our area, aside from its contributions to the state treasury."

Trustees OK rezoning for apartment units

The Van Buren Township Board of Trustees has approved a rezoning request to accommodate the construction of apartments.

The board accepted the recommendation of the planning commission when it okayed the rezoning of a 3.19-acre parcel, located on the south service drive of the I-94

Expressway east of Belleville Road, from R-1B (single family residential) to R-M (multiple dwelling).

The rezoning request had been filed by Ray Suliman, 13055 Lakeview Dr., Belleville. At a previous public hearing before the planning commission, there were no objections to the rezoning petition.

Physical fitness classes under way

"Run for Your Life" class, a physical fitness program sponsored by the Van Buren Township Recreation Department, is off to a running start.

The class, which is held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. at the North Junior High School, is now averaging close to 30 participants at each session.

For future skiers, the class will be offering exercises to strengthen the legs.

For men interested in playing basketball, now is the time to start, says Ben Robertson, recreation director. If the program attracts enough participants, the township will enter league play with the surrounding communities, he said.

For further information call Robertson at 697-9160.

McGrane is named as head of chamber election committee

The Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce has appointed Bernard J. McGrane, chamber secretary, as chairman of its five-member nominating committee for the chamber's upcoming election of officers.

Other members of the nominating committee are

Douglas Baum, Mrs. Dolores Ristow, Gerald Reder and Tony Kopas Jr.

The committee has until Sept. 30 to nominate an eight panel slate from which the general membership will elect officers at the chamber's annual membership meeting, Oct. 3.

The chamber's by-laws call for an election to be held before the completion of the current three-year terms each board member has been elected to serve.

Four of the 12 seats on the chamber's board of directors will be vacated this November. They are those of Hazen Hay, current president; Felix Rogalle, attorney; Tony Kopas Jr. and Ron Makino.

The members of the board whose terms do not expire this year are Richard C. Enright of the Kerr Manufacturing Co.; McGrane of the Wyandotte Welding Supply Co.; Douglas S. Baum, of the Baum Funeral Home; John D. Glaab, owner of the Monarch Laundry & Cleaners; Leo M. Kalota, of the Manufacturers National Bank; Mrs. Dolores Ristow, owner of Dolores' Re-sale Shop; Richard L. Mach, owner of Mach's Flowers, Inc.; and Gerald Reder of the Michigan Oven Co.

McGrane urges all current members of the chamber who are interested in having their names considered for possible nomination to contact the chamber office by calling 941-2262, or contact anyone on the nominating committee as soon as possible.

Water tap bids being studied

Three bid proposals for the installation of water taps for the coming year have been referred to the township engineers, Morris Levine & Associates of Detroit, by the Van Buren Township Board for study and recommendation.

The proposals were submitted by Andy's Excavating Co., Morris Burnes and the Seburg Excavating Co.

The board also approved the following actions:

—The letting of bids for the construction of a sewer line on Hoyt Drive.

—agreed to participate with adjoining township in the installation of a two-way gate valve to be used in case of water emergency across township lines and —to leave with the township supervisor the approval for the Shores Oil Co. water and sewer line.

Belleville scouts plan fall programs

Two annual events have brought Boy Scout Troop 231 into the fall program. The scouts are sponsored by Trinity Episcopal Church of Belleville.

The scouts recently held a picnic in Lower Huron Metropolitan Park, near Belleville. The troop held a campsite and invited their parents to a picnic.

New members and their parents used the occasion to get acquainted.

The corn roast, also a scout annual event, was given by Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Roy.

Twenty boys from the troop accompanied by several fathers and the scoutmaster, Cal Light, journeyed to Grayling for a week end campout and canoe trip Sept. 8-10.

A favorite trip down a portion of the Manistee River was enjoyed by the troop which included 10 scouts who had not canoeed before.

Plans are now under way for the fall camporee. The committee also is planning to sell fertilizer this fall to help pay expenses of the troop's trip to Alaska next year.

Interested boys are invited to attend the meetings of troop 231 which are held at the Trinity Episcopal Church of Belleville from 7 to 9 p.m. every Wednesday.

Super handyman

Railroad rail makes extra hard anvil

Dear Super:
I have always wanted an anvil, but never had one until I made one. I picked up a short length of railroad rail from a scrap iron dealer. I drilled holes in the base and mounted it on a stand made of a section of cross-tie cut to size. The tie stands on end. The rail could be mounted on any kind of stand. It is a fine anvil, and the steel is extra hard from the heavy trains running over it. J.O.P.

Shop talk — One of our friends has remarkable results with outdoor plants, and he attributes his success to the use of a fertilizer - soil builder he makes in his own back yard. It is made from leaves, straw, coffee grounds, twigs, paper and vegetable peelings. These are put in a loose pile in a bin and kept moist. This organic matter decomposes and becomes COMPOST. Some people add chemical fertilizer on top of every six-inch layer of the above material, but it is not necessary. When the decomposition is complete, the COMPOST is mixed in with the soil around plants, and you will be in for the "Green Thumb Award" in your neighborhood.

Al Carrell welcomes all mail, especially tips from fellow handymen which he can pass on to readers as space permits. While he cannot answer all individual letters, he will try to nail down your problem in his column whenever possible.

I'd prefer a broader-based stand. Those rails really are hard!

A super hint — Small cans of putty that have only been partially used can have a very short life if the lid is not put back on tightly. To make doubly sure, one "shop sharp" puts these cans inside a plastic bag after first putting the lid on as tight as possible. The bag is tied at the top to seal out the air. He says this trick saves him lots of money, and insures his always having putty and other compounds on hand and in workable condition.

Dear Al:
Every homeowner eventually runs out of storage space and starts looking for new places to keep things. I have converted our basement stairs into several small storage chests, and it was an easy way to create more space. I have boxed in each step under our basement stairs so that each step is now like a small chest. It was quite simple to nail a back and bottom on each one, and then I hinged the treads to act as lids. A screen-door hook holds each lid in place, and this insures the step being secure and still safe to walk on. Our basement stairs are the open kind, so it was easy to get in

The safety valve

Question: A state police officer stopped me the other day because the rear view mirror on my motorcycle was at such an angle that it did not provide a view of "Traffic to the rear." Does our law say it has to be in a certain place, or at a certain angle? J.F., Lansing

Answer: Motor Vehicle Code of Michigan has a section that says required equipment must be in "proper condition and adjustment" to serve the purpose for which it was designed. Failure to comply earns a misdemeanor charge.

Question: Wouldn't it be safer for bicyclists to ride facing traffic - it is very difficult for drivers to know

For answers about every day traffic related problems, write Michigan Traffic Safety Information Council; care of Michigan State Safety Commission; Department of State Police; East Lansing, Mich. 48823. The Safety Valve will try to answer all inquiries, however, all will not be printed.

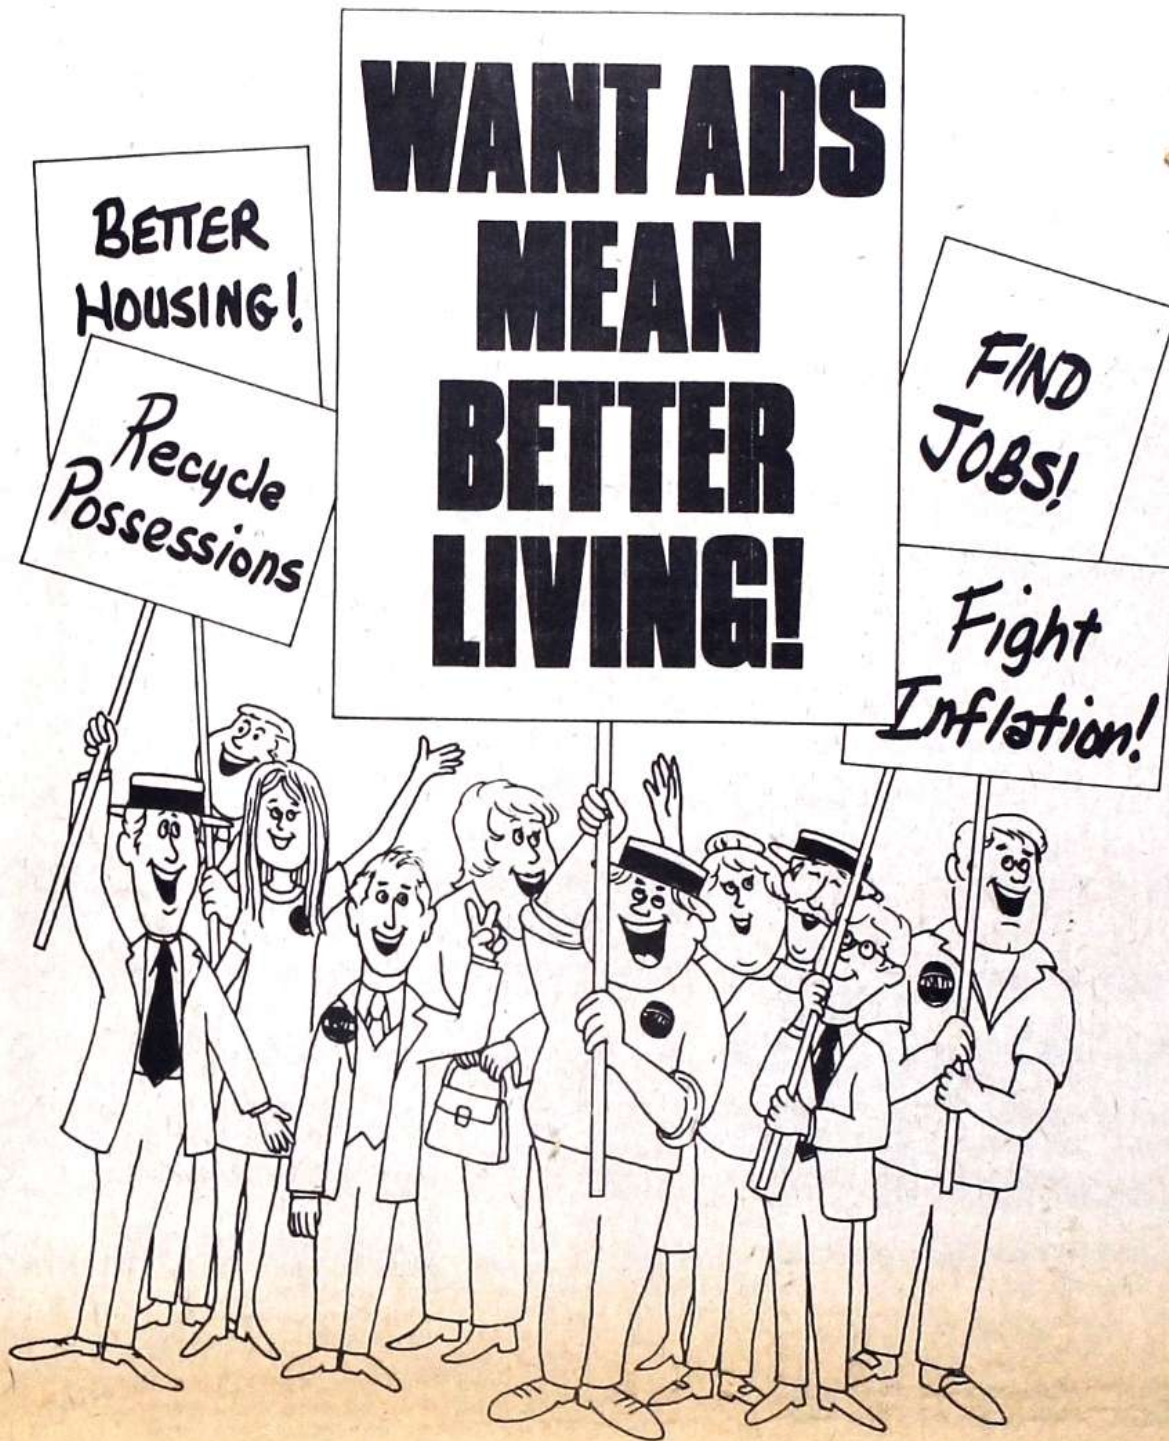

what to expect from a cyclist who can't see that a car is coming up behind him? M.G., Haslett

Answer: May be, but any person riding a bicycle on a public street or highway - except on high-speed, limited-access highways - has the same rights and responsibilities as does the driver of any motor vehicle. Bicycles are prohibited on limited-access highways, such as the interstate system. Within a municipality, check your local ordinance for bike riding regulations.

Question: After being stopped for a safety check and given 21 days to have the car fixed, and you can't have it fixed in that time, what do you do? D. W., Bath

Answer: If you are in a driver-check lane, and are caught with a previous defect still uncorrected, a citation will be issued. The State Police do consent to an extension period, for cause, if you contact the post and make the request.

Armed forces remake image

LANSING — In anticipation of a volunteer army, the armed forces are already working to remake their image into an attractive, prestigious career option.

Billboards, press and broadcast advertisements highlight travel, improved pay, advancement, pretty girls and moderately long hair.

Much of this promotion campaign is aimed at low-income and minority group members by emphasizing selectivity of candidates and positions of leadership and responsibility.

"The Marines need a few good men," "Today's action army," and "The Air Force - if you're good enough" are slogans designed to reinforce the concept that the armed forces are no longer unavoidable vultures, but rather are selective, desirable employers offering promising career possibilities.

It is hoped that making the services attractive will generate enough recruits to fill up the currently drafted ranks.

The whole authoritarian aura surrounding the army has subsided somewhat, however.

Michigan draft officials, for example, note that as many as 40 per cent of the 15,000 young men who, according to birth and census records, should be registering for the draft have not yet done so.

They say they do not consider the problem very serious, and legal revenge on late registrars will be minimal.

This casual trend toward the military, along with a volunteer army, is expected to seriously undermine the strength of local national guard units.

Lt. Jack H. Duffy of the Michigan National Guard said recruitment in 1972 has been sluggish, with 240 of 10,360 positions still open.

"The guard is behind somewhat in recruitment because of the decreased pressure on draftables for the war (in Vietnam)," he said. "We had a large buildup in 1966, and now that those recruits' six years are up, it is harder to replace them."

Prior to recent cutbacks in draft quota, the guard was an attractive alternative to active service.

"There was the choice of either spending two to three years in the regular army or six years in the guard at 16 hours a month," Duffy said.

Now that the "either or" equation appears to be dissolving in anticipation of a volunteer army and in response to the lottery, the guard is actually recruiting troops.

"We're really babies at this," Duffy said. "We've had to get into some intensive training of personnel because we never had to recruit before."

The guard has initiated a new selling campaign, including a special trip for prospective guardsmen by allowing young men to observe guard activities and duties for one day.

"Techniques have changed somewhat in the last couple of years too, with company commanders making up their own schedules and activities to suit the units, instead of orders coming from some nameless master plan," Duffy said.

Guardsmen, who average one week-end of drills per month and two weeks of summer camp each year, are paid $2.40 per hour, he said.

"We're advertising the pay in relative terms, such as explaining that a private could pay a year of college tuition or buy a new Honda with a year of guard pay."

But despite the modernization of pay procedure, Duffy said appearance requirements will stay the same.

"Our hair and dress requirements will remain the same as in the regular army," he said. "It's unfortunate, but something we can't get away from."

"After all, we are a reserve of the regular force and must maintain a military appearance."

Guard training still weighs heavily on teaching combat skills, although instruction is given on the handling of civil disturbances and natural disasters.

Conservation courses are 'totally worthless'

By JOANNA FIRESTONE

LANSING — Home study courses in conservation and wildlife management are "totally worthless" in gaining employment with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Robert R. Ring, DNR personnel officer, said no credit or preference is given to students of matchbook and late movie conservation academies.

"As far as we're concerned, home study courses have absolutely nothing to do with getting a job as a forester or conservation officer, as the ads promise," he said. "Neither the Department of Natural Resources nor any other state as far as I know accepts or counts certificates earned through these programs."

"Tuition" fees for the several available home study courses run from $300-$600, and promise "a head start in an exciting outdoor career."

"I don't want to totally condemn this kind of education, however, since in one instance it might be helpful," Ring said. "And that is when it is used in conjunction with professional on-the-job supervision and additional training."

All DNR employee hopefuls must pass a civil service examination as well as competitive tests in the field for which they are applying.

"The only case in which a home-study course might help is in getting maybe one more question right on the test or in proving a genuine interest and dedication," Ring said.

"But as far as getting a foot in the door or coming to us ready to go to work, no."

"The tests still must be taken and home study courses hold no sway over hiring practices."

Several positions are open to men and women with high school educations or who have passed the high school equivalency test.

Most popular of these are conservation officer and forest technician.

"We do the training ourselves for these jobs," Ring said, but there are some strict physical requirements that absolutely cannot be waived. "Conservation officers must be between 21 and 31 years old, 5'9" - 6'4", 150-230 pounds with vision not less than 20-50 in either eye correctable to 20-20."

The most important attributes a candidate should have are good communication skills, high moral standards and a dedication to his work.

Ring said a conservation officer's duties include inspecting hunting and fishing licenses and making sure game restrictions are observed, assisting in wildlife management and filling speaking engagements to interested groups.

Salaries range from $7,850 - $9,813 per year.

Forest technicians, who must have previous conservation experience or an associate degree in forest technology to qualify, map forests to estimate acreage, volumes and condition of timber stands, inspect and develop campgrounds and supervise application of pesticides.

Heritage Lab announces head

Robert Blank has been named to the staff of Heritage Laboratories, Inc., a subsidiary of Sybron Corporation. He will assume the position of director of marketing upon the retirement of Kenneth Henderson at the end of the year.

Heritage, which has headquarters at 28200 Wick Rd. Romulus, operates a network of dental laboratories throughout the United States. The laboratories produce fixed and removable appliances such as bridges and dentures on prescription to dentists.

Blank has been associated with Sybron Corporation since 1966 when he joined the Pfaunder Co., a division in Rochester, New York, as assistant to the president.

In 1967 he was promoted to administration manager at the Research and Development Center of the Permutit Co., a division in Paramus, New Jersey. A year later he was named water treatment marketing manager in Permutit. Since 1970 he has served on Sybron's corporate staff in Rochester as assistant to the vice president-finance.

Nursing confab set

The 65th annual convention of the Michigan Nurses Association, which represents professional registered nurses in the state, will be held in Lansing on Oct. 9-13 at the Olds Plaza and Civic Center.

The theme of this year's convention will be "Mandate for Nursing Action."

An estimated 900 registered nurses, graduate nurses and nursing students are expected to attend the convention.

Speaking of your health

Boy still hoarse after three operations

By DR. LESTER COLEMAN

Our 7-year-old boy has been hoarse almost from birth. It was found that he has small tumors on the vocal cords. He has had three operations and we have been told that the condition may return.

Where can I learn more about this? Are there any special studies being made? Mrs. J.M., S.C.

Dear Mrs. M.: The condition that you describe sounds very much like papillomas of the vocal cords. This is sometimes called "juvenile" tumors of the larynx. The exact cause is not entirely known. In some cases, surgery alone is very successful. Unfortunately, the condition does tend to recur.

For some unexplained reason, these papillomas of the vocal cord have been known to disappear at puberty.

Dr. Herbert Birck, at Columbus Children's Hospital in Columbus, Ohio, has reported many excellent results from using ultrasonic vibrations.

Dr. William Cahane, at Memorial Hospital in New York City, has been using cryo-surgery (freezing techniques) for this condition with a good degree of success.

Both ultra-sound and cryo-surgery are used in many other institutions all over the country. I am sure that your doctor is familiar with these methods, or can contact these specialists for further information.

Can impetigo be passed from one child to another?

A child has it, and some of the mothers are afraid, as I am, to send the children to our day camp.

Mrs. L.L., N.M.

Dear Mrs. L.: Impetigo is such a contagious disease that I wrote to you, immediately by direct letter in order to save valuable time.

I do want other readers to know that this skin disease, caused by the streptococcus or staphylococcus germs, can pass from child to child, and even to adults, with the speed of a forest fire. It is imperative that the person with impetigo be isolated so that the spread can be halted.

The child who has this condition is treated actively with antibiotics, and with special applications to the crusting and postural outbreaks. Rigid cleanliness in the home is essential. The child's towels and utensils should not be used by anyone else.

When any child comes down with any suspicious infection, parents of other children who have been in contact with the infected child should be notified so that proper preventive care can be started immediately.

Dr. Lester Coleman has a special eye-care booklet available called, "What You Should Know About Glaucoma and Cataracts." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Eye booklet) in care of this newspaper. Please mention the booklet by title.

She has two dates for homecoming dance

By HELEN AND SUE BOTTEL

Dear Rap: When a guy treats you like his kid sister, you really work to make him fall. I thought I was really in love with Gar so I asked him to our homecoming dance this November. I was real surprised when he said "Okay".

It's the biggest dance of the year outside of the senior prom and I wouldn't feel right unless I went with someone I truly loved.

Well, now I've discovered I only "like" Gar — well enough to be friends but not like I LOVE Tony, who came into my life two weeks ago.

Last night Tony asked me to the homecoming ball. He's the one I want to go with so I didn't tell him about my date with Gar. Instead I put him off with "Let's wait a month and see if we still feel like this about each other." I should have been truthful, 'cuz now I'm in a mess. Whichever boy I go with the other will be mad. I don't want to hurt Gar (whom I've known for five years) but if I lose Tony, I'll DIE.

Should I tell them both I've sworn off dancing or something? — THREE MONTHS TILL HOME

Anyway, I thought it was ridiculous, going crackers over TV stars. And then, Donny Osmond came along, and I guess it runs in families.

My father calls me wacky. My brother-in-law asks "Who's that good looking girl?" when he sees Donny's picture on my bulletin board.

My mother says I'm "moony," and I don't dare remind her of Tom Jones.

My sister sympathizes but she says I'll never get to meet him so why bother? No one seems to realize I'm in love and you can't turn that off just by being practical. Besides I'm not lonely when I'm thinking of HIM.

I write his name all over my books and I've even carved it in a tree, along with mine. I'm jealous when I see him smiling at someone else (on TV). When other boys are stupid and childish, I pretend I'm talking to Donny and he understands and always says the right thing.

Child care

Should baby have toys?

By WILLIAM G. CROOK, M.D.

Q— My daughter has a little boy 2½ months old. He is a happy and good baby.

I am of the opinion that there should be toys (rubber) in the crib. My daughter does not agree with me and says, "A crib is for sleeping." I don't wish to pursue this matter until I get your opinion. — Mrs. M. B.

A— Mothers like to rear their own children in their own way. They like to be independent. They like to "run the show." And even if you quoted me or a half dozen other so-called "experts" (saying that a 2-year-old ought to have rubber toys in his crib at night), she'd resent your interference even more (and mine, too).

There are a lot of ways to rear a child. If a child gets enough love, affection and stimulation from people, toys and colors during his nonsleeping hours, he'll develop properly. And I feel a mother-grandmother battle over whether to put toys in the crib or not to put them in the crib might cause battle scars that may not heal. So let your daughter rear her child in her own way.

Q— Help! Help! Help! My two grandchildren are being physically mistreated and abused by their stepfather. He beats them if they do the smallest sort of thing, and makes them stay in their room for long periods. He beats the 2-year-old with a belt as well as with his hands. The child is always covered with black and blue places. The 4 year old wets the bed and yesterday he made the child go nude all day, not even shoes and socks.

The children's own father sends them a $100 check every month, but they do not get the benefit of it. They have had him in court, but it doesn't do any good. The children don't even get enough to eat. The 4-year-old weighs only 30 lbs., and the two-year-old only 18 lbs. What is your advice? — Worried grandmother

A— What's the mother doing? Why doesn't she leave a man who mistreats her children? Or does she mistreat them, too? Call a doctor, a lawyer, the Department of Public Welfare or the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Children need protection and you should leave no stone unturned until they get it.
